After Bond Was Turned Over to County

Civil Suit May be Brought to Recover Bond—Man Fined $20 in Police Court for Disorderly Conduct—Other Cases

Michael Stanton was charged in police court with unlawfully removing baggage from the boarding house of Mrs. Laviere in Middlesex street. The complainant testified that the defendant and his son had boarded with her for several months and when he left the place a few weeks ago he owed her $8. Stanton stated that he had always paid the board in advance with the exception of a time when he ran in debt. He liquidated the debt and claimed that he still continued to pay in advance. He was found not guilty and discharged. William A. Hogan appeared for the defendant.

Drunk Offenders

John Shepard had been riding on the high seat of the "water wagon" for six months, but last week he took a fall and whether or not he received the discolored eye which he bore this morning as a result is a question. He was sent to jail for ten days. James Dacey, who was on probation for neglect of wife, was charged with being drunk. He admitted his guilt, but owing to mitigating circumstances the court imposed a suspended sentence of three months in jail. Joseph Paquin, drunk, was fined $6, and two simple offenders were released.

to him, John Sokolinsky, charged with assault and battery on Stanislaus Waskavitch, was led into police court this morning and surrendered. The assault in question occurred a month ago and Sokolinsky's default and subsequent appearance will result in a complication of matters in which there are apt to be civil as well as criminal proceedings and a hearing before the county commissioners before matters are straightened out.

On the night of Saturday, Oct. 29th, there was a wedding in Howe street, and as usual there was plenty of intoxicating beverages on hand and after several kegs had been emptied a row was started. Sokolinsky and Waskavitch were among the guests present, and it is said that the latter was wielding a knife when Sokolinsky rushed into the fracas and while trying to take the knife away from the man received a gash in the right hand. It is alleged that Sokolinsky became infuriated and taking up a heavy glass tumbler threw it at Waskavitch, striking the latter on the head and inflicting a deep wound which necessitated the taking of a number of stitches.

Waskavitch was taken to St. John's hospital where he remained in a critical condition for several days. The police after a search of several houses located Sokolinsky in his home and placed him under arrest.

Friends wanted to bail him and when the bail was placed at $500 a friend offered cash to that amount. Owing to the conditions of the bail law the friend's money could not be used unless there was a transfer, so the friend turned the money over to Sokolinsky and the latter offered it as his own and was released.

When the case was called in court it was found that Sokolinsky had disappeared and his default was recorded. Subsequently, according to law, the $500 in cash was turned over to the county treasurer.

Last night Sokolinsky walked into the office of his counsel in this city and said that he wanted to give himself up, that he was tired of being a fugitive from justice. The man said he had been sick, but whether he had been sick or had been worrying is not known. He was pale, his cheeks drawn in and said he had lost 30 pounds since he had been away. He said he had been visiting a cousin in Cambridgeport.

This morning Sokolinsky was brought into court and Judge Hadley deemed it advisable to increase the man's bond to $600. At the time of going to press there was no attempt to bail the man.

The man's default and subsequent surrender leads to a peculiar state of affairs, inasmuch as the money put up as bail has been turned over to the county treasurer, the only chance that there is to get it or a proportion of it back is to petition the county commissioners. If the money is forthcoming and Sokolinsky refuses to give it up to the man who furnished the $500, a civil suit is liable to take place. The criminal proceedings, that of the hearing of the complaint against him for assault and battery will be held next Tuesday.

Many Others Injured—Fifty Young Girls Cut off on Fourth Floor—Many of Them Jumped Only to be Killed on the Pavement Below—Twenty-Three Bodies Lying on Sidewalk at One Time—Pitiful Scenes Enacted During the Fire

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 26.—Eighteen persons are reported dead in a fire which started shortly after 9 o'clock today in the factory of the Newark Paperbox Co. at 215 High street. Up to 10 o'clock eleven dead had been reported taken from the building, while many others were found later. Nearly all the victims were girl employees.

Several score employees are said to have been injured. When the fire broke out it trapped fifty young girls employed on one of the upper floors. A panic ensued. Many of the girls leaped from the windows to the street.

There is an engine house next door to the factory but before the firemen could give any assistance at least twenty of the girls had leaped to the street. Most of the injured were taken to St. Michael's hospital, a block away.

200 Persons Employed

The building in which the disaster occurred is a four-story structure.

Lowell Electric Light

50 Central Street

The first and second floors were occupied by the Newark Paperbox Co. The third floor was occupied by the Aetna Electric Co., makers of lamps. The fourth floor was used as a factory by Louis Wolf, manufacturers of underwear.

It is believed that the fire started on the second floor in the rear, among a lot of rubbish. Soon after it started it made its way into a lot of waste paper from which it connected to the upper floors.

In all about 200 persons were employed in the building.

Leaped From Windows

Miss Jennie Gill, who was employed by Wolf, said she was in a room on the fourth floor with Miss Anna Hagie, the forewoman, Miss Anna Smith and Miss Augusta Ebert. Miss Hagie discovered smoke and ran to a window. Panic-stricken, she returned to the sill and plunged into space. Miss Gill was about to follow her example when the firemen raised a ladder and brought her down.

The ambulances from the city hospital and the patrol wagons from all the precincts were dispatched to the scene. An immense crowd kept the police busy.

Fifteen Jumped Four Stories

One of the spectators said that at least fifteen girls had jumped from the fourth floor of the burning structure.

With the exception of two girls employed by the Aetna company, all the employees on the first and second floors of the building escaped by means of the exits or the one fire escape.

The two girls sustained burns about the head and face. Twenty of the injured were taken to St. Michael's hospital in the ambulance. The salvage auto took four more. Of these, two died after reaching the hospital. It was impossible to obtain the names of the victims in the great confusion that prevailed.

Life Nets Saved Many

Life nets were put into use immediately after the arrival of the firemen.

Perhaps thirty lives were saved this way. One girl, Hattie Delaney, was badly hurt by striking the edge of the net and falling to the pavement. Another girl sustained a broken ankle.

Engine McHugh, a fireman in the employ of the Aetna company, guided forty or fifty girls in his charge to safety down a fire escape without injury.

Less than 20 minutes after the arrival of the firemen the interior of the building was flame swept. The floors of the upper part of the building fell shortly afterward. It is believed that a search of the ruins will reveal other bodies.

Twenty-three Lay on Sidewalk

Among those who were early at the scene was Rev. Fr. Quirk, assistant rector of St. Joseph's church. He gave last rites of the church to seven of the victims. Fr. Quirk said he counted 23 prostrate forms on the sidewalk. All were girls who had leaped from the upper windows of the factory.

Six of the injured, three of whom cannot recover, were taken to St. Michael's hospital.

KEPT FIREMEN BUSY FOR A WHILE

There were two lively fires on the dumps on either side of the Merrimack river this morning and a portion of the fire department was kept busy battling with them.

During the forenoon word was telephoned to the central fire station that there was a lively blaze on the dump on East Merrimack street and Chief Hosmer dispatched several pieces of apparatus to the place.

About 11:30 o'clock a fire was discovered on the first street dump and a portion of the department was sent to that place to battle with the flames.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26.—The flags of the Army and of the Navy flutter all over Philadelphia today in honor of the football teams from West Point and Annapolis which will clash on Franklin field this afternoon after a lapse of two years. With perfect football weather and with both teams full of the fighting spirit that pervades the two great institutions which the players represent, a hard and high class football game is looked for by the nearly 30,000 persons who will witness the contest.

The Army and Navy game rings down the curtain of the football game in the east and this game has invariably furnished the most brilliant spectacle seen in this section during the football season. Washington society journeys to Franklin field in force and everybody who can get away from the war and navy and other departments at Washington will be found at the field. Army and navy officers, active and retired, living within a thousand miles of Philadelphia, are here to root for their favorites.

The Army contingent will occupy the south stand and the Navy the north. Because of the death of his son, Secretary of War Dickinson will not attend the game, but his private box will be occupied by Mrs. William H. Taft and her daughter and other friends whom the war secretary had invited to accompany him to this city. The Army will be officially represented by Assistant Secretary of War Oliver.

The honor of the navy will be upheld on the opposite side of the field by Secretary Meyer and a large number of members of that arm of the naval service. Philadelphia society will also be largely represented.

The Army is a slight favorite in the little betting, but the naval contingent is taking all the money that is offered. Both teams this year have played consistent football and they enter the game on as near an equal footing as the two elevations that have ever represented the two institutions. The Cadets have played seven games this season and the Middles eight and each has scored a total of 98 points. The Annapolis team has the proud record of not having been scored upon, while but nine points, a touchdown by Harvard and a field goal by Yale, have been tallied against West Point, which has had a schedule of harder games. The coaches report their respective teams in fine physical condition and confident.

The teams meet under the auspices of the university of Pennsylvania, which was instrumental in bringing the two academies together in 1899 for annual football games after a break of six years. Last year's game was cancelled because of the death of Player Byrne from injuries received in a game played at West Point.

Today will be the 15th time that teams representing the two academies have met on the football field. Of the fourteen times they have met the Army has won seven and the navy six with one contest a tie.

By City Council on the Appeal for Contagious Hospital

Charity and Health Boards Explained the Existing Necessity in Such Forcible Terms That Appropriations Committee Voted $1000 to Have Plans Drawn for $50,000 Hospital—Sum of $60,000 Recommended for a New Pump for the Water Department

There were meetings galore at city hall last night and through the splendid efforts of the boards of health and charity the initial steps for a contagious hospital were taken. Mayor Meehan, who is deeply interested in the hospital matter, called special meetings of both boards and later there was a joint convention at which members of the boards of health and charity told of the urgent need for a contagious and infectious hospital. These two boards had asked for $50,000 for a hospital but were willing to take any part of that for a starter and so well as so convincingly did they argue that the committee on appropriations voted to recommend the sum of $1000 just to start the ball rolling. The committee also recommended the appointment of a commission of four men, and the mayor ex-officio, to act in the matter, the commission to be chosen by the city council.

he referred to the committee on appropriations and that the committee report its recommendations to the board directly after the meeting of the committee. The motion was not seconded.

Ald. Qua said he regretted very much that the matter of a contagious hospital had not come before the city council in a tangible form earlier in the year, and he suggested that inasmuch as both branches of the city council and both the board of health and board of charities were present that a joint convention be held in order that all members of the city council be given an opportunity to hear what the members of the boards of health and charities had to say. A recess was taken in order to allow Mr. Qua time to prepare the order. When the aldermen reconvened the joint communication was referred to the committee on appropriations and Mr. Qua's order for a joint convention was read and passed.

JOINT CONVENTION

OF BOTH BOARDS HEARD NEEDS

OF CONTAGIOUS HOSPITAL

Chairman Gray of the board of aldermen presided at the joint convention and called upon Dr. McCarty, chairman of the board of charities, for expression relative to the matter in hand.

Dr. McCarty

Dr. McCarty told of the urgent need of a contagious and infectious hospital.

"We have come here tonight," he said,

"to instruct you what to do relative to this matter; a matter that has been too long neglected. The law says dis-tingly that all cities of $5,000 or more shall maintain a contagious hospital.

"There can be no doubt as to the need of such a hospital. Most of the cities in the commonwealth have a contagious hospital, and Lowell is behind in the matter."

The speaker recalled incidents in his career as a physician which had firmly convinced him that tuberculosis and other contagious diseases are positive menaces to public health, unless there is a detention hospital for those suffering from such diseases, where proper treatment may be given, and where quarantine may obtain. He dwelt upon the modern treatment of tuberculosis, the open-air treatment, and spoke of those cases where, notwithstanding treatment, death invariably results.

Continuing, he said: "I sincerely hope that you will take prompt action in the matter and I undertake to say that in a legal and moral sense to delay the building of such a hospital is almost criminal.

"You want to remember that this is a very important matter, and think how criminally negligent it would be to further delay the erection of this hospital. You do not want victims of this dread disease riding on your street cars, and going in and out of public places, and in order to prevent that we must have a place to care for

In his inaugural relative to the matter was as follows:

"In order to safeguard the people from contagion, this city council should provide ways and means for the establishment of a substantial contagious hospital, for the isolation and care of those afflicted with contagious diseases. This is a matter of vital importance to all people, but especially to those of limited means who cannot afford trained nurses and do not tenant houses commodious enough for complete isolation.

"It would be lamentable, indeed, to have an epidemic run riot in our city, and yet we provide only the minimum of protection against such a contingency when we fail to establish a contagious hospital. The importance of such an institution appealed to the legislature of 1906, and section 1, chapter 365, Acts and Resolves of that year is as follows:

"Each city shall establish and constantly be provided within its limits with one or more isolation hospitals for the reception of persons having smallpox or any other disease dangerous to public health. Such hospitals shall be subject to the orders and regulations of the board of health of the cities in which they are respectively situated. A city, which upon request of the state board of health, refuses or neglects to comply with the provisions of this section, shall forfeit not more than five hundred dollars for each refusal or neglect; provided, however, that if, in the opinion of the boards of health of two or more adjoining cities or towns, such hospitals can advantageously be established and maintained in common, the authorities of the said cities or towns may enter into such agreements as may be necessary for the establishment and maintenance of the same.

"Our city is not entirely free from the ravages of the 'white plague' and one of the very best ways to stamp it out would be to have each case reported so that health inspectors could visit every house in which a case is located and see that all necessary precautions are adopted to prevent the spread of the disease. By such means, also, much might be done to bring about the cure of incipient cases, to prevent the spread of other diseases, and to develop and remedy unsanitary conditions.

"Our great physicians could render valuable service to the public by frequent lectures to their fellow countrymen on the evils of this scourge.

In closing his remarks to the joint convention Dr. Martin said:

"I want to appeal to you, one and all—not for myself, for I have nothing to do with it but hard work—but for the poor people, among whom these diseases appear with the greatest frequency. I hope that no children of yours or of mine will ever need the quarantine can be given in such a hospital, but such a place will be needed for those children who, the very nature of things, are bound to contract

such diseases."

The other members of the board of health, Dr. Huntress and Mr. Murphy, added the remarks of their chairman and added to them. Dr. Huntress said he had had some experience in the erection of hospitals, at Tewksbury and Bridgewater, and he said it would cost $50,000 to erect a satisfactory contagious hospital in this city.

Mr. Jordan wanted to know how much would be needed for a start.

Dr. Martin said every building put up should be a part of a comprehensive plan, which would later mean a group of buildings. He suggested $1000 as a starter.

Ald. Carmichael wanted to know if the footbridge for Lawrence street came up, and Mr. Whitist said that the board of streets would set at work on it in a short time.

To act in conjunction with Aldermen Byam and Wainwright relative to a re-survey of the Dummer street extension project, President Jewett appointed Councilmen Davis, Elliott and Royal.

MONEY VOTED

BY COMMITTEE ON APPROPRIA-

TIONS AFTER CONVENTION

After the board of aldermen and common council had adjourned the committee on appropriations got together.

Dr. McCarty and Martin talked hospi-tally to the committee, reiterating and adding to what they had said at the joint convention.

In reply to Ald. Gray, Dr. Martin said that the first work would be to find out what the first work had done in creating contagious hospitals. The first work would be consultative, with architects and contractors of hospital buildings.

He said he had an idea that $50,000 would have to be expended the first year. The heating plant, the fumigating plant, laundry, etc., would have to be put up first.

Dr. Martin said he should not be willing to have the inspector of lands and buildings determine what sort of a structure would be needed, inasmuch as special training for such work is needed.

Dr. McCarty said there would be time enough to talk about buildings after architects and special constructors had been consulted.

Chairman Gray believed the work would have to be done by the lands and building department.

Dr. Huntress suggested that a commission to erect the hospital be appointed at once. If it is legally a matter of the appointment of a commission, he believed this commission should start its work at the very beginning, even to discussion of plans.

Ald. Dexter moved that the committee recommend the appointment of a commission of four men, and the mayor ex-officio, to act in the matter, the commission to be chosen by the city council.

The motion was adopted. Mr. Dexter moved the introduction of an or-

A SOCIAL PARTY

By Ladies of Notre Dame
De Lourdes

The feast of St. Catherine was celebrated last night by the young women of Notre Dame de Lourdes parish, an excellent entertainment program being carried out during the evening. During the early part of the evening there was a whist, after which a musical and literary program was carried out. Last but by no means least, came the distribution of candy kisses.

The musical program was varied and comprised selections by the Mulgrave children, Father and Frederick, the little girl contributing a vocal selection, gave several numbers on the piano and also a Scotch dance, after which the young man gave a violin and vocal selection. Other numbers were given by the Highland orchestra; Miss Florina Lacroix, who played the piano; Messrs. Dominic Dimodani and Frank Lawrence, who played a violin and harp; Miss Dora Martin, who gave readings; and Miss Anna McNabb, who played the piano. At the conclusion of the program, Rev. Fr. Lamothe, O. M. I., the pastor, was pleasantly surprised by the presentation of a beautiful bouquet. Little Miss Juliette, a niece presented it, in the name of the young women who organized the party. The prize winners at whist were: Cecile Palmer, Alex. McLeod, Richard Fournier, George Fournier, O. Carpentier, E. Veilleux, Mrs. Lussier, Mrs. Lawrence, Alfred Bedard, Aurelie Plante, Adolphe Labrie, Mrs. Mollere, Raoul Ducharme, Wilfred-Lafleur, Adolphe Berard, Mrs. Perrin, Eva Lefebvre, Roseline Lefebvre, Mary Cote, Adele Michaud, Jos. ## NEGRO LYNCHED

Year Old Girl

LITTLE MOUNTAIN, S. C., Nov. 26.—With his body riddled with bullets and a lantern hanging above his head, Flute Clark, a negro, lies dead on the side of Little Mountain. He was lynched by a mob of nearly 1000 men for the murder and attempted assault of the 14-year-old daughter of a well to do planter of this section. The crime was committed yesterday afternoon in the yard of the girl's home while she was alone. Her head was almost severed with a knife, following a fierce struggle. The negro was employed by the girl's father for 12 years. Following the crime, the negro visited the scene and assisted in carrying the body of the girl to the house. He was later spirited to a secluded spot after making a confession. It is alleged, to a small crowd.

J., in 1870, and has been stationed in St. Louis the last 39 years. She leaves one brother, Martin Heaurot of this city, and one sister, Mrs. Chas. Donnelly of Winoski, Vt.

LANDLORD KILLED

Danvers Boarder Mixes
in a Family Quarrel.

DANVERS, Nov. 26.—Angered because Chester Goodwin, a boarder, had taken his wife's part in a trifling quarrel, Bertram W. Galloway last night threatened to order Goodwin from the house with the result that Goodwin, the police say, secured a revolver and shot Galloway through the heart. Galloway died almost instantly, while Goodwin made his escape.

Galloway and Goodwin were fellow-laborers on the state moth extermination work, and friends of long standing. They returned home to supper last night the best of friends. At the supper table Galloway asked his wife to accompany him. Mrs. Galloway, an affair, suggested that they wait until Galloway became impatient, whereupon she took the wife's part and the two men had words which finally resulted, it is said, in Goodwin's securing a revolver and shooting Galloway.

Fearing that Goodwin contemplated suicide, a son of the Galloways secured the revolver from him before he left. The police are now watching the river, in case Goodwin should attempt to end his life by drowning.

Galloway was a man of 25 while Goodwin is 22 years of age.

MUST BE SECRET

Corporation Treas. Returns to be Protected

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—Secrets of corporations and the intimate details of their business are to be safeguarded by the government under the law passed by the last session of congress providing for the filing of returns with the treasury department for the purpose of assessing federal taxes. The question of such returns has been declared of vital importance to the big business interests. Their fears were set at rest yesterday when Secretary of the Treasury MacVane announced a ruling which bars from perusal of the reports the silly curious or those who might benefit unfairly by the study of them.

In the first place Mr. MacVane declares that the records of the corporations filed with the department shall be kept under guard in the department itself and that no outside agent of the department, under any circumstances, shall divulge the contents of the reports.

A CARD OF THANKS
The Sisters and children of St. Peter's Orphan Asylum wish to thank all of their kind friends for their generous donations of provisions, groceries and money, received during the opening and Thanksgiving week.

All of our friends and benefactors are especially remembered today in the prayers of the Sisters and children. Sisters of Charity.

AMNESTY GIVEN

Mutinous Brazilian Sailors Are Pardonned

RIO JANEIRO, Nov. 26.—The chamber of deputies last evening, by a vote of 114 to 23, adopted a resolution granting amnesty to the mutinous sailors on board the battleships Minas Geraes and Sao Paulo, the coast defense ships Marshal Floriano and Marshal Deodoro and the scout ship Bahia.

The senate had unanimously passed the measure Thursday.

Immediately after the lower house had voted to pardon the sailors for having mutinied and killed several of their officers and throwing shells into the city, President Fonseca authorized Deputy Carvalho to visit the Sao Paulo and confer with the mutineers.

The decision of the chamber was not reached until there had been stormy scenes and several fistfights on the floor. When on Thursday the senate passed the measure the chamber immediately took up its consideration. The debate was without result, however, and the session was adjourned until yesterday.

President Fonseca had said that should the parliament vote amnesty he would sign the measure.

The chamber reassembled at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, but owing to the arguments of the deputies for and against the proposal, the vote was not reached until last evening. Meantime the mutinous vessels which had been waiting outside the bar since noon for a signal to come in, put to sea and disappeared. Their destination was not made known.

Congress meeting in extraordinary session, voted to concede every demand of the ultimatum presented Thursday, including general amnesty for the sailors who, after murdering as many of their superior officers as was necessary to place them in complete control, pointed the guns of the warships upon the capital.

What effect the outcome will have eventually on the discipline in the navy is a matter of some concern. The immediate effect is to give the sailors increased pay, shorter hours of service and less work through the recruiting of additional men and to abolish corporal punishment in the fleet.

Following the action of congress the mutineers went through the formality of surrendering, and before noon yesterday the city had resumed its normal activity and the public excitement had subsided.

While the revolt lasted the people of the city were kept in a state of suspense, fearing that the mutineers

A WOMAN'S PLACE

Is in the House, Says
Cardinal Gibbons

BALTIMORE, Nov. 26.—"Avoid following those who desire woman suffrage," advised Cardinal Gibbons in a talk yesterday to the students of St. Catherine's normal institute, where he was the guest of honor at the celebration of the feast of St. Catherine.

"Do not follow in the steps of those," he continued, "who have become manish in their ways and who fight for the place in politics. The place for the woman is in the home, and I trust you will strive to do your best now. By doing so each of you will bring joy to your relatives and friends and in the future to the young man whom you may call your husband."

which make them superior to any others

1. The Single Damper
2. The Oven heated by cup-joint flues
3. The Two Hods in the base

Either of these features is worth the price of the range. The Single Damper is the greatest help in cooking ever invented. One motion—push the knob to "kindle," "bake" or "check"—the range does the rest.

The Oven is heated by the cup-joint flues all over alike; no "cold corners," no "scorching spots." Quickest and surest baker.

The Two Hods in the base (patented) is a wonderful trouble-saving feature. The ashes fall through a chute into a Hod which is easy to empty. The Coal Hod is beside it.

Gas Ovens and Broilers for end or above range if desired.

MORAN FAVORITE J. AVISON BAKER A BIG TELEPHONE MERGER IS BEING SECRETLY FORMED

In Betting on Tonight's Lightweight Battle

Retires as Leader of the First Baptist Choir

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—A sudden change in the overnight betting has made Owen Moran an 8 to 10 favorite over Battling Nelson for their fight this afternoon in Cofretho open-air arena here. Wagering on the contest all along has been at even money and the unexpected shift of odds has caused the fight fans to engage in much speculation over the eleventh hour turn of sentiment. Betting Commissioner Tom Corbett says a belated rush of Moran money was the cause.

BOXING GOSSIP

Judging from the talk about town quite a delegation will visit the Moran club in Boston Tuesday to witness the great bout between Jimmy Gardner and Frank Klans.

There will be no disappointment this time on Jimmy's side on the score of condition, as the Moran club has taken exceptional care to see that he kept at his work. But there was very little of supervision, for Gardner is more determined to win this bout than any other in which he ever engaged. He has been "roasted" so much for not paying strict attention to his training when scheduled to fight in contests that he has made an honest try on the present occasion, and will be there as fit as possible next Tuesday.

The preliminary bouts are exceptionally good. In the opening round, Lowell's favorite, Freddie Macore meets Tommy Phangan of Cambridge; Young McGovern of Wolcott goes against George Alger; and Joe Nelson of Lawrence has to face Tommy Furey of Attleboro.

OFFICERS ELECTED

BY PAN-HELLENIC SOCIETY OF LOWELL

At a meeting of the Lowell branch of the Pan-Hellenic society, at Graining, the following officers were elected: P. Regopoulos, B. Houpis, A. Malleotitis, V. Giaris, E. Glicits, K. Otonoupolos, John Papanicolaou, S. Hatzivassiliou, C. Tsapalos, G. Tsacoulis.

Dr. John Gotsopoulos is the Lowell branch's deputy to the state headquarters at Boston.

The society was organized about a year ago among the Greeks of America by Lampros Koromilis, Greek ambassador to the United States.

After eighteen and one-half years at the head of the choir of the First Baptist church, Mr. J. Avison Baker will retire and will be succeeded by Mr. William R. Lane of Boston. Mr. Lane is well known in Lowell as the director of the Choral choir. He is a man of wide experience as a vocal teacher and conductor. He comes to Lowell with very favorable recommendations from the Boston churches that he has served and that would be glad to have him return. The opportunity to secure him came to the music committee of the First Baptist church a few weeks ago and after the committee had consulted with other leading men in the church, it was thought best to engage him when the present director, Mr. J. Avison Baker, should retire, which he is about to do with full salary to Jan. 1. It is understood Mr. Baker has already accepted another important position.

Mr. Baker has been director of music at the First Baptist church since June, 1892, and has been one of the most popular and successful choir masters in the history of Lowell. He has also been teacher of singing in the public schools of Billerica, Groton, Tewksbury and other towns in this vicinity, and a very large proportion of the successful singers in Lowell in the past forty years have been among his pupils. It is understood that the choral choir will be continued at the First Baptist church and that it will be materially strengthened. Mr. Henry Hardy, the bass, will retire. He goes to the Calvary Baptist church Dec. 1.

JACK JOHNSON CHARGED WITH ASSAULT ON WHITE WOMAN

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Jack Johnson, the colored champion heavyweight pugilist of the world, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a warrant issued by Magistrate Frosch, charged with assault upon Emily Cooper, a white girl, who is a member of a theatrical company in which the fighter is appearing.

The complaint did not appear, but went word that she was ill in bed, and the hearing was adjourned. The charge was one of simple assault and disorderly conduct.

"This thing is a frame-up," said Johnson. "I'm going to fight it to a finish and show them that I'm no easy mark."

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—There is no doubt but what the American-Telephone and Telegraph company is at work secretly to unite all the telephone systems in the country into one trust. Whether the work will be accomplished or not is another question. It appears that Theodore N. Vail, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, is the prime mover in the plan, which, if successful, would stifle competition and give the Bell interests a complete monopoly. Mr. Vail, it is understood, has visited a large number of cities recently in furtherance of the plan. It was reported that as one of the steps in a gigantic merger efforts were being made to form a $50,000,000 company to take over and consolidate several independent companies in Ohio, Michigan and eastern New York. Conferences were held in New York. It was said, by Ohio, the Cuyahoga, the Toledo Home, prominent telephone men, but they were conducted with such secrecy that news of them was kept from the public at that time. According to Wall Street report, the financial power back of the plan is the house of J. P. Morgan & Co. In the street President Vail is looked upon as Mr. Morgan's representative in telephone matters. J. P. Morgan & Co. hold large blocks of the stock of independent companies in the middle west, having got the shares in a rather peculiar way. The story is told in some measure in the deposition of E. J. Hall, vice president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, in a recent suit in Ohio. It appeared that the Bell company had been negotiating for the purchase of a controlling interest in the stock of the United States Telephone company of

Temporary Heat Quickly

Did you ever stop to think of the many ways in which a perfect oil heater is of value? If you want to sleep with your window open in winter, you can get sufficient heat from an oil heater while you undress at night, and then turn it off. Apply a match in the morning, when you get out of bed, and you have heat while you dress.

Those who have to eat an early breakfast before the stove is radiating heat can get immediate warmth from an oil heater, and then turn it off. The girl who practices on the piano in a cold room in the morning can have warmth from an oil heater while she plays, and then turn it off.

The member of the family who has to walk the floor on a cold winter's night with a restless baby can get temporary heat with an oil heater, and then turn it off. The

Nat. Commission Gives Pitcher to Doves

Bill McTigue, the husky left-hander over whose services there was some little tangle in league circles, will pitch for the Boston Nationals next season. The National commission notified the Boston club officials to that effect yesterday.

McTigue twirled for New Bedford last season, winning a majority of his games. Boston drafted him from Harvard when he was with that club. Other clubs, notably Pittsburgh and Boston Americans, also had drafts in for him, but Fred Lake's claim was the one allowed. Lake seems to think he will prove successful in the big league.

McTigue is a Southern boy and was "discovered" by Joe Boyce, the former Lowell catcher.

SURPRISE PARTY

TENDERED MISS VERA QUINN BY YOUNG FRIENDS

Miss Vera Quinn was agreeably surprised Thursday evening, when about forty of her friends assembled at her home, 36 Bond street, and presented her with a handsome ring. Mr. Edward Rogers, on behalf of the gathering made the presentation speech. Although Miss Quinn was completely taken by surprise, she responded in a graceful manner, and thanked her many friends for their token.

During the evening various games were enjoyed, while refreshments were served by Misses Agnes Tully, Mary Martin and Theresa Quinn. Miss Mary Conroy opened the evening's entertainment by a short comic recitation. Miss Elizabeth Quinn next rendered "Love is Only a Dream" in a charming manner. Joseph Sousa followed in an impromptu of Julian Ellinge singing "Why Do They Call Me the Gibson Girl," his encore being "Oh, You Candy Kid." Miss Mabel Hay then recited "Thanksgiving Recollections." A quartet, composed of William Gil-

STRIKE RIOTING

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—Three persons were shot, one of them George Gubler, a saloonkeeper, being wounded seriously, and many others were subjected to a rain of bullets here yesterday in a riot caused by striking garment workers attacking non-union workers on the Northwest Side. Gubler was in his saloon and the bullet that struck him came through a window. Bricks, sticks, and stones also were thrown by the fighters and several wagonloads of police were called.

Vincent Bellano and his wife, Anna, non-union workers, were accused by the police of firing the shots and were arrested. A revolver which had been fired several times was found on Bellano.

Presque Isle, Me., Nov. 26.—"Billy" Dunning of Millinocket, a heavyweight boxer who five years ago fought the present world's champion, Jack Johnson, to a 10-round draw, died here yesterday following a bout Thursday night with Jack Leon of Bangor, in which Dunning was knocked out. He did not recover consciousness. An autopsy was held this morning by Coroner George H. Moores of Ashland, to determine the cause of death. Local followers of boxing say that Dunning was in poor condition and, in their opinion, should not have fought.

Being always contented that with a little more experience he could have defeated Johnson, when they met at Millinocket Sept. 3, 1906, he was called upon to meet Johnson on the strength of his prowess exhibited in a long, tiring camp, and his fighting and style, but never enough to earn for him the award of a draw.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

THE FINAL SETTLEMENT

This afternoon and evening "The Final Settlement," a society play with many thrilling climaxes will be presented. This play is one of the best presented at popular prices this season. Tonight is the last opportunity to see it.

An evening of hilarity will be ushered in at the Opera House next Monday night when Lew Dockstader and his "20th Century Minstrels," under the management of the Messrs. Shubert come here in their latest creation of black face comedy.

Lew Dockstader sorely needs an introduction to this or any other community. He stands alone as a minstrel entertainer, and is about the only man left who has a real minstrel show. There are other burnt cork organizations, but none of them are as good as Dockstader and his associates are the only minstrel performers who got into the first class theatres. Dockstader has long since established himself as a pre-eminent entertainer. He has a sense of humor, and a brand of satire that is keen, but yet kindly. He is always funny, and at times truly artistic, but though his name appears in big letters on the billboards, he does not try to make himself the whole show, but has surrounded himself with other comedians of reputation and genuine merit as fun makers. He has a corps of vocal soloists who are probably the best ballad singers to be obtained for this style of entertainment. There are dancers galore, and an orchestra of twenty-one instruments. The entertainment this season has been declared in other cities to be the best that Dockstader has ever offered. It is enriched by an unusual variety of features, quite unequalled by any minstrel program heretofore presented. There is always fun in plenty at a Dockstader show, and it is all presented with a quality of elegance and utter absence of anything coarse.

KLARK-URBAN COMPANY

The Klark-Urban company with its repertoire of New York successes, competent artists, both dramatic and vaudeville, special scenery, effects and mountings will open a three nights' and two matinees' engagement at the Lowell Opera House next Thursday evening presenting the comedy drama, "The Last Dollar," with "The Girl from Out Yonder," "One Girl in a Thousand," "The Fatal Seal," and "Sold Into Slavery" to follow. Each play will be produced with special scenery, and the following vaudeville artists will appear at every performance: Fred Bollinger, aerial artist; A. E. Tenny, comedy juggler; Roberto and Edith, comedy duo; Royce and Blackwire, Marion Allen, acrobatic dancer; Marie Hodgkins, vocalist; Grace Leith, the funny old maid, and the four monarchs of music, Klark-Urban and Schriber Brothers.

"THE STAMPEDE"

The Syracuse Post-Standard of October 21st, says of "The Stampede," which comes to the Opera House on Tuesday and Wednesday with a bargain matinee Wednesday: "The play is a masterpiece of the reverse of those in 'Strongheart'." "The Stampede" is the composition of which Cecil De Mille, who wrote the former play, collaborated with Lillian Buckingham, opened a three days' engagement at the Baitable theatre yesterday afternoon and was well received by two large audiences.

In "Strongheart" the hero was an Indian who sacrificed the white girl he loved for the sake of his own people. Wanga, the principal character in "The Stampede," is a half-breed who is called upon to choose between happiness with her white lover and the interests of her tribe of Indians to which her mother belongs. She does her duty, and, unlike "Strongheart," happiness comes to her in the end.

"The Stampede" is not as striking as "Strongheart," but it is more melodramatic. It tells a story that enlists stage and screen lighting effects, and holds the attention of the audience. Miss Lillian Buckingham is splendid and impressive in the leading role.

"THE CHOCOLATE SOLDIER"

The close surveillance of F. C. Whitney, who controls the American and English rights to "The Chocolate Soldier," coming to the Opera House on Dec. 9 and 10, and the film of Remick which publishes the music, has brought to light forty-two music pirates who were attempting to use the Strauss music for their own gain. Unlike certain other offerings from Vienna that have come to England and America in the last few years, "The Chocolate Soldier" was well protected by Mr. Whitney in both this country and Great Britain, where the opera was produced with tremendous success a few weeks ago. Mr. Whitney has been able to obtain permanent injunctions against imitators.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

The Hathaway theatre has set such a high standard for itself during the present season that it is becoming increasingly difficult for the management to equal, much less outdo, the quality of the performances that have gone before. Nevertheless, this has been done in the bill scheduled for next week. At the head and front of a brilliant bill are Valerie Bergere and her company with "His Japanese Wife," vaudeville's classiest and most beautiful one-act playlet. Everyone who has even a bowing acquaintance with things theatrical knows of the fame which Miss Bergere enjoys in the dramatic world.

Knox and Alvin, a man and a woman, are a duo who are more than ordinarily diverting in their originality and cleverness. Their comedy is light, bright and sparkling, and their songs up-to-date and well sung. Anita Diaz and her trained Simians give a performance that will be a delight to the ladies and children. There are eight or ten of the "monkeys" in the troupe, and so well trained are they that in their contorted and high human-like positions they resemble human beings. Carl Randall, "The American Laddie Club," is starting in his resemblance to the famous English juvenile whom he impersonates.

McNeil and Hill are a bowl of hilarity in their contorted and high human-like positions they resemble human beings. They perform as difficult, but they are continually lost sight of in the ridiculous gyrations and comedy tumblers with which they embellish their feats.

Lillian Leaver is a winsome comedienne, possessed of both vocal talent and a captivating smile, and she is certain to make many friends among the theatre patrons during the week. Robinson and Le Fèvre, comedy acrobats and original barrel jumpers, provide a whole budget of fun by their odd antics.

As usual, the show closes with a series of the newest and best in moving picture views.

THEATRE VOYONS

ons, are exceptionally good from every standpoint. They show hundreds of interesting things about the city in its strenuous days, and to the man who keeps up to date on the affairs of the world this picture is invaluable. The photography is remarkably good and much interest to make its preservation as a matter of historical record an assured fact. Tomorrow, Sunday, an unusually good program will be given, and those who do not attend will miss one of the finest shows of the season. On Monday the feature picture will be a real novelty, being taken in Ireland, and showing genuine Irish scenes besides telling a very pretty romance of Erin's Isle.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Sunday night at the Merrimack Square theatre, there will be another of those big concert programs, with two performances, at 7 and 9 o'clock respectively. Seats are on sale now, as a matter of fact.

But to the concert. It is the best and biggest bill yet given at a concert at this popular playhouse, which of course means that it is the best yet to be presented in the city. There are to be eight big headline acts, with thousands of feet of the newest and best moving picture films. That is no exaggeration either.

On the Sunday night bill, for instance, there are Hendricks and Wright, Gene King, Brooks and Vetta, Kenney and Hollis, and two old favorites, Miss Nina Espher, the banjo girl, and LaFoye and Toohy. That is a bill that ought to suit everybody. The moving picture films will be brand new and never before shown here.

Next week there is another splendid bill on schedule also. This week the attendance at the performances, especially on Thanksgiving day, broke all records for the city, and the management, in keeping to its avowed policy of giving the best show for the least money, is not forgetful of the patronage. It appreciates it and deserves that patrons will find what they desire in the amusement line at the Merrimack Square; hence, the excellent bill of next week.

Mrs. Tom Thumb will be there. Mrs. Tom Thumb is without question the most famous midget in the world and in spite of her years, which are already beyond those of most of us ever reach, she is as sprightly as a girl. She will appear surrounded by an unusual company of midgets, not one of whom is any larger than her. The act will appeal to her from other folks who remember her from other days, as much as it is sure to to the young people.

Another big act is Homans' Six Imperial Dancers, one of the finest acts of its sort on the vaudeville stage. The company includes three pretty girls who can sing and dance much better than most, and three agile and graceful young men. It is elaborately staged, with unusual electrical effects, and is bound to be a sure fire hit.

Other choice bits on the bill are Lawton the Juggler; Playa and Russell, a couple of original and amusing colored comedians; and The Rosses, the delightful singers who have been retained for another week by special request.

At the suggestion of many patrons of the theatre, the management has decided to reserve a few seats in the balcony of the theatre, at 15 cents, including the price of admission, in addition to the orchestra reserved seats at 25 cents. There are also over 1000 free seats at the admission price. These reserved seats may be purchased one week in advance.

The new order goes into effect at Monday night's performances.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Last night was a great night with the amateurs and they were greeted with a crowded house and with their acts and the regular bill it certainly was a big show for a dime. There is to be a change in the future as to amateur night. By request at the box office the management has been requested to change back to Wednesday evening. The request has been granted so that Wednesday instead of Friday evening will be known as amateur night. If you want to enjoy a good laugh, go and see the Shoemaker. It is one of the funniest of comedy acts on the stage today. This is the last chance to see the show, but next Monday we will have a delegation of gentlemen from Con-town and there are just an even dozen of them. They are great funmakers. With them there are several other good acts and the pictures. You are sure to get your money's worth. Remember the sacred concert Sunday afternoon and evening.

COLONIAL THEATRE

Performances at the Colonial Theatre, at Odd Fellows' building, Middlesex street, have been all that could be wished for. The acts are all excellent and Sachs and Vallin have had every audience in a row. Both Mr. Sachs and Miss Vallin are decidedly clever in their comedy sketch and have proven great favorites.

Three Grand Sacred Concerts have been arranged for Sunday afternoon and evening and a special effort will be made to improve upon anything ever given before.

PRES. GOMPERS

To Decide the Western Charter Dispute

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 26.—The question of whether the Western Federation of Miners shall be granted a charter by the American Federation of Labor was placed before President Gompers last night by the convention on a point of the federation law raised by President James O'Connell of the International Association of Machinists.

President Gompers, who is leading the fight against the proposition to grant an unrestricted charter to the western miners said the constitution of the federation provided in cases where charters were applied for in which a question of jurisdiction came up, the written consent of the chief officials of all other organizations involved had to be obtained first.

President Gompers was unprepared to act before adjournment was taken. Whether the controversy will be reopened depends whether Gompers renders his decision. In response to demands that this decision be made today, he said as soon as he had arrived at an opinion he would state it. Labor leaders said last night that he holds the key to the situation.

O'Connell said that if the charter without restrictions was granted by the convention, his organization would withdraw from the federation.

ATE SOME POISON

500 Grains Required to Kill Elephant

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—It took 500 grains of cyanide of potassium, a deadly poison, to kill the Gypsy Queen, a trick elephant, yesterday, in execution of the death sentence passed on her for the murder of her keeper, Robert Seibel, on Oct. 26, last.

Less than one grain is ordinarily fatal to man and the first conclusive symptoms supervene almost before the victim can set down the glass from which he swallowed.

But the Queen swayed backward and forward, flapping her big ears, for 10 minutes, before she showed the least uneasiness, and it was 44 minutes before she was pronounced dead.

Poison in Bran

The poison was given her in three handfuls of bran mash in which had been sprinkled 100 capsules, each of five grains of cyanide. She had been starved for 21 hours and ate greedily. At the end of 10 minutes she shivered in all her vast bulk of 7650 pounds, her knees weakened, her trunk grew rigid, she rolled her eyes and fell.

In the next two minutes she got up four times, struggling against the chains that bound her. At the end of 20 minutes her breathing was imperceptible, but 44 minutes after her first swallow, she winked when her trainer passed his hand before her eyes. That was the last sign of life.

The Queen was 37 years old, born in Africa, and one of the largest elephants in captivity; she stood eight feet seven inches high. Of recent years her temper had not improved and last October she picked up an unaccustomed keeper, who had been warned not to go near her, slammed him against the wall of her cell, and then trod him into pulp. A few days ago she grabbed at another keeper, but he kept cautiously out of reach.

Nevertheless, her trainer never lost faith in her. To prove her docility he took her out yesterday, a few minutes before her execution and led her through her tricks and she responded to orders with old time enthusiasm.

REARDON RETURNS

Somerville Man Had Been Missing Six Months

Disappeared on Eve of Wedding and Police of Two Countries Were Unable to Trace Him—His Re-Appearance Also Mysterious

BOSTON, Nov. 26.—Alfred A. Reardon, 27 years old, of 3 Hancock street, Somerville, who mysteriously disappeared on April 15, 12 days prior to the day of his intended marriage to Miss Effie Hanson of 32 Newmarket street, South Boston, returned to his father's house on Thanksgiving day morning.

The case, however, remains involved in as much mystery as before because the explanation given by his family of his absence is at variance with the facts as reported upon his disappearance. Since his return he has been kept in seclusion and reporters have not been allowed to see him.

Reardon is the son of J. Warren Reardon, a dealer in rubber goods at 3 Tremont row, and worked for him as a traveling salesman prior to his disappearance.

The case has been an international mystery, and the state departments of the United States and Great Britain have taken part in the investigation. There has been reports of kidnapping, robbery and murder and other suggestions as to the cause of the absence of the young man.

At one time it was thought he had turned up in London, suffering from a lapse of memory and laboring under the delusion that he was J. E. Drexel, a member of the Philadelphia family of millionaires. But this man was neither Drexel nor Reardon.

The police departments and great detectives of the world have diligently sought the missing young man, while his father and mother feared he was murdered.

Disappeared From New York
"Al" Reardon was a romantic youth even when he was a lad about a Boston newspaper office, but he was always so genial and ready with witty repartee that he was exceedingly popular. He was successful as a rubber goods salesman for his father.

His wooing of Miss Hanson was watched with interest by his friends, for it was generally admitted that they were a happy couple, well matched. Young Reardon furnished a cozy flat in Somerville and Miss Hanson had her wedding gown completed. Then Reardon started for New York city to attend an installation of officers of a lodge of a secret society of which he is a prominent member. He attended the exercises on the evening of April 15 and he was not seen again after he left the lodge room for his hotel until Thanksgiving day morning, when he appeared at the door of his father's house and fell into his mother's arms and wept.

When he disappeared he was well dressed, had about $100 in cash with him, a gold watch and chain and a large diamond set in a ring worn on a finger of his left hand.

Police Search Begun
When he did not return home on the appointed day his family was disturbed, but when he failed to arrive in time for his marriage to Miss Hanson there was great consternation and the marriage invitations were recalled with apprehension for it seemed as if nothing short of a terrible accident or death could keep "Al" Reardon from his own wedding.

Then the police were appealed to. Deputy Supt. William B. Watts of the Boston bureau of criminal investigation sent out the word to the police of the world and the search was begun in earnest.

J. Warren Reardon, father of the boy, made a personal investigation. He went to New York and the police there made an investigation on the theory that the young man had possibly been assaulted, robbed and murdered, and his body thrown into the East river.

On July 31, a young man was found wandering in a state of mental collapse, along the banks of the Thames river in London. His general description answered that of Reardon. He told a wild story of having been taken into a hotel in New York, drugged, brought to London and then escaped again. He also said he had escaped and wandered about the streets until he was found. He claimed he was J. E. Drexel, a member of the Philadelphia family of millionaires.

The skating park as laid out by the park department and indicated on the above diagram will have an area of about three and a half acres. It will be easy of access from Rogers street, a short distance beyond the Shedd gate.

Supt. Whittet of the park department is throwing up a number of trenches at points where the water might escape from the main park. The area has been cleared of brush and all the holes will be filled so that there will be no danger on account of depth at any point. The area to be covered with water should accommodate 500 skaters at one time without any crowding. It will be a very popular feature and lighting arrangements will be made so that it can be used at night as well as in the day time.

HORSE DROWNED

Double Team Backed In to Merrimack River

A double team employed on the state highway job below Belle Grove, in backing up to the edge of the embankment on the riverside, backed too far and the weight of the wagon and its contents carried the two horses over, the embankment into the river. Workmen rushed to the assistance of the animals and by releasing the harnesses succeeded in rescuing one, but the other was drowned.

Mr. John J. Healey, manager of "Mitchell the Tailor" establishment, is measuring clothes with an imperishable smile on his countenance today, and the cause thereof is a baby boy, who dawned upon the happy household this morning.

NO TRACE OF GOODWIN

DANVERS, Nov. 26.—An all-night search by the police of Danvers and neighboring cities and towns brought forth no trace of Chester Goodwin, who is alleged to have shot and killed Bertram W. Galloway, the friend with whom he boarded, during a quarrel last night. Arthur G. Wells, a member of the Massachusetts district police, came here today to assist Chief Joseph Merrill of the local police force in the search for the alleged murderer. It is generally believed that Goodwin committed suicide after killing Galloway. Officers river, a small branch of the sea that runs up to Danversport, flows in the rear of the Galloway house, where last night's tragedy occurred, and the police think that as soon as he realized that he had killed his friend, Goodwin drowned himself. Because of the strong tide the dragging of the river was considered impracticable and a search of the river was planned for this afternoon, when the tide will be low.

VESSELS RETURN TO HARBOR

RIO JANEIRO, Nov. 26.—The multi-masted vessels of the Brazilian navy, which put out sea yesterday to await positive assurance of the government's good faith in granting their demands for naval reforms and full amnesty, spent the night outside the bar, returning to the harbor this morning. The warships were still flying the red flag, but the crews made it known that they would be turned over to the authorities according to the terms of surrender agreed on at noon. New commanding officers have been appointed by the authorities.

NO MORE DELAYS

Merrimack St. Paving Job Finished

The smooth paving job in Merrimack street from the railroad crossing at Dutton street to Tilden street received the finishing touches today. When all the streets are finished, the job started the superintendent of streets feared that winter would set in before the job was finished, but despite the fact that it was considerably inconvenienced because of delay in the arrival of the stone blocks the job was finished in good season.

There were two good reasons why the job was pushed through in quick order. The first reason was because the weather was favorable, especially so for this time of year, and the second reason was that the "gang" pulled together and worked with all their might. It was stated today that they were as good and faithful a crowd of men as ever worked on a city job. John Bowers was the boss and the men were with him every minute. It is generally conceded that there isn't a man in the country who knows the paving job better than John Bowers and he knows how to have a man do his best work without ruffling his feathers.

Not a man quit the job when the time it started all it finished, and when Mr. Bowers asked them if they wanted to work on Thanksgiving day they said they did; that they wanted to finish the job while the weather was good. They worked every Sunday and every man in the gang was on the job every minute.

There is a little grading to be done in front of the Yorkick club in Dutton street and about 40 feet of paving will be relaid in Moody street in order to make it approach to the new paving as moderate as possible.

A BOLD ROBBERY

Malden Man Held Up by Thugs

MALDEN, Nov. 26.—Amory M. Cobb of 60 Glen avenue was assaulted and robbed by two young men about 9 o'clock last night in Summer street. The robbery was one of the boldest reported to the police of the city in some time, and the thieves got $200 cash and Mr. Cobb's gold watch, which he values at $150.

Mr. Cobb was in Boston yesterday afternoon and went to a restaurant for lunch, where he became acquainted with the two young men, who sat at the same table with him. They were well dressed and sociable and they discussed a number of subjects before they left the restaurant. They went to a saloon in Court street, where they had a drink or two, and while they were paying for his drinks Mr. Cobb showed a large roll of bills.

The two strangers walked with Cobb to the North station and boarded the same train. They told him they were going to Wakefield but they left the train in this city and followed him through the streets a short distance behind.

As he was passing through Summer street they closed upon him in a lonely place and one of them struck him on the head with a bottle. The blow stunned him and before he could do anything to beat off his assailants one of them seized him by the arms and held him while the other searched his pockets and took his money and watch.

Cobb, when he recovered, returned to the railroad station and telephoned to the police station. He was unable to give much of a description of the thieves. They were young men, he said, about 21 or 22 years old, well dressed and smooth shaven.

A BIG SEIZURE

S. Marshal Beckman and U. S. Food and Drug Inspector Lynde. The eggs were shipped from New York by the Seymour refrigerating company.

PARIS HAS COME OUT STRONG FOR COLORED NECKWEAR

IRISH LACE NECKBAND AND RUFFLE

A SOFT AND BECOMING EFFECT

HANDKERCHIEF LINEN MODEL

THE NEW ROUND COLLAR

YOU'VE never liked colored neckwear? Yes, I know the old objection, "It's too much like pink tablecloths." But the latest Parisian neckwear is going to make you change your mind about this colored idea in regard to collars and jabots and the like. At least it ought to have this effect, for the new things are the dearest models we have seen for many a moon. There are lovely jabots of fine linen and baby Irish lace with graduated dots embroidered in rose pink or old blue—just the thing to wear with a coat suit that tones with the color in the embroidery. And let me say in passing that the latest jabots are more or less flat in effect, ending in sharp points or square or rounded ends, according to the length. The serrated or saw tooth outline is attractive in jabots of all lengths, as it assists in carrying out the long lines now necessary to the modish figure. Fashion still nods her head in approval of low neck styles, and this winter the mondaines who have pretty throats will affect the new large, round collar—that is, the collar that is deep in the back and rounded in outline. These collars are worn in both lingerie and chiffon effects. A dainty example is seen among the neckwear illustrations, and the sailor collar, too, is a variant of the usual pattern. Both neck effects are of handkerchief linen, hand embroidered and edged with a embroidered with colored silk and metal thread in an oriental design. This collar comes in two shapes, one the regulation Dutch model and another with an extension at each front end like an attached tab. The colors of this collar are rich enough to justify its use on a blouse or costume of black or colored satin or velvet. Often a collar of this kind is introduced into a waist in yoke style and closed at the back. A similar collar can be cut into cuffs to match, and you have a smart trimming for your frock. It's an idea well worth trying, especially if you have a last year's waist that needs a little new touch. Among the expensive articles of neckwear are collars in Dutch cut made up of hand wrought gold links cut in tiny flower or leaf shapes or in conventional ones all joined by tiny links. The collars of this variety are rich in appearance and high in cost. Being made of tiny bits of metal, they are supple and lie as flat as the finest lace or lingerie collars. It's the small things of the wardrobe—the bags, the dainty neck fixings, the new belts and odd touches here and there—which make the fashionable girl of today so attractive. It is only the girl or woman without that most feminine of traits, an inborn knack of giving "a touch here and a nip there," who is turning to the extremes of the style to announce her "up-to-date-ness." ## ALL ABOUT THE HOUSE

WHAT to do with accumulating postcards as they arrive is a question with most people. Albums multiply and take room, and loose cards kept in boxes or baskets are always out of the order which the occasion requires when they are to be shown. One woman has found some stiff paper envelopes with bellows buttons and tape for fasteners and is using a series of them for various kinds of cards. The envelopes she keeps in one side of a big desk, and when for any reason a card is wanted it can be found instantly, because it is among the cards of its own kind. Those that belong to entire tris that she herself has taken or that friends have been on are together and are ready to company is interested in the places visited. The envelopes are kept by stationers, but if the exact size is not to be found they may be made to order at small cost. These envelopes, which are familiar to business and professional offices, are useful in more ways than one. They make excellent files for pictures, clippings and even for patterns and odds and ends for the sewing room. All the different threads and silks used in embroidery and fancy work may be kept in this way, so that a hand may be held upon them in a second and upon pieces of silk and materials for fancy work or for doll's clothes—anything at all that is not too large for the envelopes. A drawer into which the envelopes just fit standing in rows is a convenience when they are needed in a hurry. They should be carefully labeled. If the label is done with pencil it can be changed.

A perforated rubber mat is an almost essential thing when the drain board of the sink is porcelain. It saves many an ugly chip on the fine china.

To clean paint or white woodwork put a tablespoonful of kerosene oil in two-thirds of a pail of warm water and use no soap. This is excellent also for washing windows, although a little more kerosene should be used for glass.

A bottle of household ammonia is a great help in every kitchen. A teaspoonful or two of ammonia in the water in which dish towels are rinsed will keep them clean and wholesome. If a dingy carpet is rubbed with a cloth moistened in ammonia it will look brighter.

Dip the hairbrushes up and down in tepid water to which a tablespoonful of ammonia has been added to clean them properly. A few drops of ammonia in greasy pans will remove the grease. Ammonia and boiling water to flush a sink or drainpipe will cut any grease that is clogging the pipe. If you put some ammonia in the boiler in which white clothes are boiled it will make them whiter.

A woman who used to keep goldfish and has thought better of it has utilized her glass bowl and the pretty shells and stones at the bottom of it in a most attractive way. Over the top of the bowl she has put a coarse meshed netting and fastened it around the edge with a piece of narrow green ribbon. Through this mesh she puts flowers, nasturtiums or sweet peas, and their slender stems showing through the water in the bowl are almost as pretty as the flowers themselves. If larger stems are used she has to cut holes in the netting.

The big glass bowl with the shells and stones in the bottom, combined with the garden flowers, is a charming decoration for the table, and now that the flowering season is most over ferns and green vines would be lovely used in the same way. Silver netting similar to that used on expensive glass flower holders may be bought separately for this purpose.

When the Stork Appears

The babies of today are not togged out in the foolish frilleries and fineries that were thought so very long ago to be of paramount importance in the layette. The 1910 infant arrives at a moment in which the admirable virtues of common sense is applauded, and it is therefore made neither the victim of fads nor the martyr of experiments. Weighty clothes find no place in the modern infant's wardrobe, but after many controversies against long clothes of the baby's earliest months the conclusion has been reached that the old fashioned sweeping robes shall be retained with long sleeves rather than the short ones, which recently have been in vogue.

Up to the minute mothers have adopted the big idea of clothing for the newborn infant, which idea is being used in several baby hospitals and public nurseries. When the bag is used all clothes are dispensed with except the band diaper. This bag is a simple square of muslin of a soft, fine quality fitted in the shoulders and opening at the hem by means of snap fasteners, like those on gloves. The bag is made long and wide to enable the little legs and arms to move at ease. The extra width, says a hospital nurse, is gathered into a short shoulder seam like the top of a sleeve, and as the child grows older the side seam is ripped open for a couple of inches and faced to the arms may be passed through up to the elbow. The neck is finished with a three inch slit to allow the head to pass through. The snap fasteners at the lower edge of the bag make changing of the diaper a comfortable operation. And there is no pulling of the little arms in and out of sleeves to make baby cross and in some instances to hurt the tiny muscles very seriously. Of course it gives the mother idea a lot to dispense with the sweet little slips, handmaids and embroidered, but what she loses in artistic beauty her baby gains in health and strength.

The custom of announcing baby's arrival is steadily increasing in this country, and a very original touch was given an announcement sent out not long ago by a well known Berlin musician when his wife presented him with a son and heir. The announcement took the form of four bars of music inscribed on a card. The proud parent's musical friends at once recognized that they were from "The Messiah" and that the words fitting them were "Unto us a child is born; unto us a son is given."

LEARN BEFORE YOU MARRY. "Oh, any one can keep house! I shall soon pick it up after I'm married," said the engaged girl scornfully. And perhaps it's true that one can, after a fashion. But a woman must have brains to keep house well, to plan out the meals so that they may be nourishing and still economical, to keep the house fresh looking and in spick and span condition.

THE HOUSE SHE'D BUILD.

You probably know the woman who is thinking of building a house for herself—the woman who goes around with her shopping bag filled with memoranda and notes of "things for building purposes." This woman has ideas at variance with those of her architect. The following are some of the ideas which she has adjusted: She wanted a low, unbroken roof line. The builder admitted that it would be more artistic than a flat or conventionally slanted one, but he pointed out that the sleeping rooms would not be convenient, cool or comfortable and that such a roof would cost more than one of the less picturesque type.

Another idea that this woman had straightened out for her was about the framework of the house. She was told that this framework is the skeleton and the plumbing, flues, pipes, etc., are the circulatory system and that if these parts of a house were carefully planned before any work was done it would save much time and expense in the construction of a building.

She also discovered that, having decided upon the amount of money to be expended upon the house, she would have to allow a generous proportion for the foundation, frame, chimneys, heating and ventilating. This should be done even at the expense of the finish. Then every pipe, flue and wire would be placed in the right position and be supported and surrounded by the right material.

Rodin on Feminine Beauty

Women with regular features, peaches and cream complexions, melting eyes and swanlike necks needn't plume themselves on their beauty any longer. They are no more beautiful than the woman with a squint and a double chin. M. Rodin, the sculptor, says so. At least he says that every human being is beautiful, one as much so as the other. Nature is never under any circumstances ugly.

This is really very comforting, but it will be a trifle hard on the beauty doctor when women see the light as M. Rodin has, for if pimples and cross eyes are as lovely as smooth skins her occupation will be gone. But think of the saving in money to husbands!

THE REVOLVING TOOTHBRUSH NOW.

Life is being made so easy by the aid of mechanical devices for saving hand labor that after awhile we shall all grow fat from indolence. Now comes a device to do away with the irksome task of brushing the teeth. The new toothbrush, instead of a broadened out end filled with bristles, which must be polished across the teeth with strenuous arm strokes, is provided with a revolving brush made of an oriental fiber which natives of the far eastern countries use on the teeth. With this ingenious tool one brushes the teeth as thoroughly and easily as one marks out patterns in tissue paper with one of the revolving markers.

THE JAPANESE SASH.

If you want to be very much in the fashion you will wear your sash in the very newest mode—a la Japonaise. Wide silks or satins are used, being drawn about the figure above the normal waist line, though not so high as the empire demands.

In front the silk crushes together in tiny folds, ending in the back in a huge bow, just exactly as worn by the wee maidens of the cherry blossom country. The silk is most striking and the sash most effective when a shade contrasting in color of the gown is employed.

The bow in the back must be very large and very flat, the ends of the bow pointing upward.

BABY CARRIAGES DE LUXE

THIS season some delightful new colorings have been introduced on the baby carriages de luxe which are a pleasing change from the dark shades generally used. And, after all, why should not the babies have their little vehicles painted in beautiful colors like the motorcars of their parents? Pale buttercup yellow with black hands picking out the outer beveled edges and a very fine line of red in the outer inner panels is a new combination. There is, too, a charming color scheme in the new royal blue. With white upholstery a carriage of this tone looks very smart. Very stunning is the baby car in a beautiful soft shade of brown, with delicate pickings of several tones of brown. The upholstery is of a shade lighter than the painting, and with its black unbreakable leather head and silver plated mountings the carriage is fit for a prince to ride in.

Powder as an Aid to the Toilet

There are but few dressing tables upon which a box of powder, with its accompanying puff or piece of camellia, is not to be found, and, whatever may be said about the abuse of powder, the benefits derived from its use cannot be denied. Powder, like most other things, can be abused, but the average complexion is decidedly improved by a dash of good powder in a line which suits the natural coloring. To apply powder scientifically so that its use may not be too apparent and yet sufficiently to improve the tone of the surface of the skin it should be applied directly after washing, as soon as the face has been thoroughly dried. A wool puff should be used in preference to any other means of application, and the powder should be well rubbed into the skin, using an upward and outward movement. Wool puffs are quite as inexpensive as the other kind and have the advantage of being washable and therefore more hygienic. After the powder has remained on the skin for a short time remove all traces with a soft camellia leather and give the face a finishing dusting on the nose or anywhere else it may require it with a hair's foot. By this means all the benefit will be obtained from the powder, and yet there will be no suggestion of "makeup" on the face of the user. The woman with a high color too often chooses a pink powder with the idea that it tones better with her natural complexion. But this is a mistake. The woman with a bright color should use either white or cream powder, according to the tone of her skin. If she be a blond she should use white; if a brunette cream powder will suit her best. Here is a good recipe for a reliable face powder: Talcum powder, twenty grains; hyacinth powder, twenty grains; powdered tannin, five grains; scented with violet de St. Amand. About eight or ten drops will be sufficient with the above formula.

PINEAPPLE PUDDING.

THIS is a particularly nice and very digestible steamed pudding. If you don't care for pineapple you can use any other kind of firm fruit.

Take two eggs, their weight in butter, flour and powdered sugar, half a teaspoonful of baking powder, two tablespoonfuls of cubes of preserved pineapple and one tablespoonful of pineapple sirup.

Take two eggs and put them on the scales where the weights ought to be, then weigh out the butter, flour and sugar. Put the butter and sugar together and beat them with a wooden spoon until they are like whipped cream, then add the eggs one by one, beating each one in thoroughly.

Mix the flour and baking powder together. This is best done by passing them through a sieve. Stir them lightly in the mixture and add the cubes of pineapple and the sirup. Mix all well together, put the mixture into a well buttered mold and cover the top with a piece of buttered paper.

Put the mold into a saucepan with boiling water to come halfway up, put the lid on the pan and let the pudding cook steadily for about one hour and a half. Be careful that the water does not all boil away. It will probably need replenishing. Add boiling water as the cooking will be checked and the pudding spoiled.

To make sure the pudding is done stick a clean metal skewer into it. If it comes out clean and free from mixture the pudding is done; if otherwise it requires longer cooking. When done turn it carefully on to a hot dish, and if liked some more pineapple cubes can be just heated through in a little of the sirup and poured round as a garnish. Remember that a steamed pudding should be served as soon as possible after it is dished up.

BAKED MARMALADE PUDDING.

Two ounces of breadcrumbs, one ounce of powdered sugar, half an ounce of butter, two eggs, half a pint of milk and marmalade are used for this.

Put the sugar and butter in a basin and beat them until they look like whipped cream, then add the yolks one by one, beating them in well. Next add the crumbs and milk and lastly the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs.

Well butter a pie dish, put in it a layer of the mixture, then a layer of marmalade, next more mixture, and so on until all is used. The last layer should be of the mixture. Put the dish in a moderate oven and bake for about three-quarters of an hour.

BUYING A TROUSSEAU.

The best of all advice is to buy as little as possible, realizing what the conditions of the future will be and what will be needed for immediate wear. Fashions alter so rapidly nowadays that it is a mistake to have more clothes than one can comfortably use, but have just enough of the best for the moment. A few dollars to purchase gowns and wraps as one wants them is a good provision, for often occasions arise that are not thought of before the wedding.

It is not well to go into shops promiscuously and be tempted to buy what pleases you at the time. Make comprehensive lists and do not depart from them. So many things are captivating, but as often as not are likely to be of no real use.

The going away gown is not so often a coat and skirt costume as it used to be. A traveling cloak accompanying a one piece gown is sometimes substituted. The coat and skirt suit, though, is considered best, for so many blouses may be worn with it for variety. Smart blouses for traveling are of pongee, marquisette or oriental patterned soft silk.

And for real service, to serve as a dinner gown while on tour and for informal wear when the honeymoon is over, nothing is better value than a frock of black chiffon or net to be worn over white or colored slips.

Velvet makes some of the dressy suits of the season, and when trimmed with fur and worn with a muff to match it is an ideal costume for best wear.

Six of each sort of undergarment are sufficient, but the number of hats, gloves and other accessories is a matter of how much one has to spend on the trousseau. But in the rush of buying things one is apt to get a lot of "little things" that don't go with each other and are utterly worthless.

TO THREAD NEEDLES.

Here is a useful device invented by a clever woman. It should have a place on every woman's sewing table. Get a block of wood two or three inches square, a double pointed tack (like the kind used in mending) and a small folding reading or magnifying glass.

Open the glass and lay the cover on top of the block of wood, let the glass project its full size over the size of the block, then fasten in place with the tack. If a block of wood is not obtainable use an empty spool of basting thread size.

When you want to thread a small sized needle hold the needle and the thread under the glass and you will have no trouble in getting it through the eye. When you use the machine tip the block over near the needle and save time and trouble there also.

These blocks are invaluable for elderly women and those too busy to bother with threading and unthreading needles continually. A good plan is to thread before starting to sew all the needles with their different kinds of thread and silk that you are likely to have use for.

The Vogue of Pekinese Velvet

WE have gone velvet mad this season, and not only are the plain colors used, but there are charming effects in stripes, the most approved being the Pekinese hairline designs. Perfectly stunning is the calling suit pictured, of fine black and white striped velvet. Observe the natty cut of the coat and the chic combining of black velvet in the deep skirt band and the modish cuffs and sailor collar of the plain tulle velvet.

CALLING COSTUME IN BLACK AND WHITE VELVET.

The New Furs

IN the good old days our ancestors would have been horror stricken at the mere idea of the tailor even glancing at their furs. Then the leading furriers stocked three sizes in seal skin coats, and no one ever had the temerity to suggest that any alterations should be made. Seal was dyed quite a different color from the rich brown, almost black, of today. Bismarck brown was the accepted shade forty years ago. When a coat became lighter and rarer through wear the signs of use were considered in no way to detract from its value. In fact, it was after twenty or thirty years' wear looked upon as an heirloom to figure in the possessor's will.

Woman today make a fetish of the harmonious blending of colors, and it is impossible now to wear a chinchilla in stone and mink with a brown suit. Consequently a sable, or as near sable as the pocketbook will allow, is a necessity of a century ago.

After Bond Was Turned Over to County

Civil Suit May be Brought to Recover Bond—Man Fined $20 in Police Court for Disorderly Conduct—Other Cases

Michael Stanton was charged in police court with unlawfully removing baggage from the boarding house of Mrs. Lariviere in Middlesex street. The complainant testified that the defendant and his son had boarded with her for several months and when he left the place a few weeks ago he owed her $8. Stanton stated that he had always paid the board in advance with the exception of a time when he ran in debt. He liquidated the debt and claimed that he still continued to pay in advance. He was found not guilty and discharged. William A. Hogan appeared for the defendant.

Drunken Offenders
John Shepard had been riding on the high side of the "water wagon" for six months, but last week he took a fall and whether or not he received the discolored eye which he bore this morning as a result is a question. He was sent to jail for ten days.

James Dacey, who was on probation for neglect of wife, was charged with being drunk. He admitted his guilt, but owing to mitigating circumstances the court imposed a suspended sentence of three months in jail.

Joseph Paquin, drunk, was fined $5, and two simple offenders were released.

Bail Jumper Back
Emaciated, trembling, weighing 30 pounds less than he did a month ago and fearful as to what was to happen to him, John Sokolinsky, charged with a assault and battery on Stanislaus Witkavitch, was led into police court this morning and surrendered. The assault in question occurred a month ago and Sokolinsky's default and subsequent appearance will result in a complication of matters in which there are apt to be civil as well as criminal proceedings and a hearing before the county commissioners before matters are straightened out.

On the night of Saturday, Oct. 20th, there was a wedding in Hlove street, and as usual there was plenty of intoxicating beverages on hand and after several kegs had been emptied a row was started. Sokolinsky and Witkavitch were among the guests present, and it is said that the latter was wielding a knife when Sokolinsky rushed into the fracas and while trying to take the knife away from the man received a slash in the right hand. It is alleged that Sokolinsky became infuriated and taking up a heavy glass tumbler threw it at Witkavitch, striking the latter on the head and inflicting a deep wound which necessitated the taking of a number of stitches.

Watkavitch was taken to St. John's hospital where he remained in a critical condition for several days. The police after a search of several houses located Sokolinsky in his home and placed him under arrest.

Friends wanted to bail him and when the bail was placed at $500 a friend offered cash to that amount. Owing to the conditions of the bail the friend's money could not be used unless there was a transfer, so the friend turned the money over to Sokolinsky and the latter offered it as his own and was released.

When the case was called in court it was found that Sokolinsky had disappeared, and his default was recorded. Subsequently, according to law, the $500 in cash was turned over to the county treasurer.

Last night Sokolinsky walked into the office of his counsel in this city and said that he wanted to give himself up, that he was tired of being a fugitive from justice. The man said he had been sick, but whether he had been sick or had been worrying is not known. He was pale, his cheeks drawn in and he had lost 30 pounds since he had been away. He said he had been visiting a cousin in Cambridgeport.

This morning Sokolinsky was brought into court and Judge Hadley deemed it advisable to increase the man's bond to $600. At the time of going to press there was no attempt to bail the man.

The man's default and subsequent surrender leads to a peculiar state of affairs. Inasmuch as the money put up or bail has been turned over to the county treasurer, the only chance that there is to get it or a proportion of it back is to petition the county commissioners.

missioners. If the money is forthcoming and Sokolinsky refuses to give it up to the man who furnished the $500 a civil suit is liable to take place. The criminal proceedings, that of the hearing of the complaint against him for assault and battery will be held next Tuesday.

Disorderly Conduct on Street
James S. Hickey, a young man of 19 years, was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with drunkenness and assault and battery on an unknown person. He admitted that he had been drinking and in all probability was intoxicated last night, but he said he knew nothing about the assault.

Patrolman Gilbert Sheridan informed the court that Hickey and three companions were passing through Central street, and annoying women. The court found Hickey guilty on both complaints and ordered him to pay a fine of $20 within three days or be committed to all for three months on the assault and battery case, the case of drunkenness being placed on file.

FIRES ON DUMPS
KEPT FIREMEN BUSY FOR A WHILE

There were two lively fires on the dumps on either side of the Merrimack river this morning and a portion of the fire department was kept busy battling with them.

During the forenoon word was telephoned to the central fire station that there was a lively blaze on the dump Fifth avenue early today of heavy disease. He was 32 years old and had been in for some time. His daughters, Mrs. Cornelius Vandenberg and Mrs. Ogden Goelet were at the bedside when the end came. Mr. Wilson had been a sufferer from heart disease for more than four years. It was six years ago that he was compelled to retire from active participation in business affairs.

RICHARD T. WILSON
BUSINESS PARTNER OF RUSSELL SAGE IS DEAD

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Richard T. Wilson, a wealthy New York banker and one time business associate of Russell Sage, died at his home on Fifth avenue early today of heart disease. He was 32 years old and had been in for some time. His daughters, Mrs. Cornelius Vandenberg and Mrs. Ogden Goelet were at the bedside when the end came. Mr. Wilson had been a sufferer from heart disease for more than four years. It was six years ago that he was compelled to retire from active participation in business affairs.

Born in Hall county, Georgia, Mr. Wilson spent his younger days in Tennessee and Kentucky. He joined the Confederate army at the outbreak of the Civil war and won the rank of commissary general. As the fiscal agent of the Confederate government he went to Europe and was active there until the end of the war. In the late sixties he came to New York and established a cotton and banking firm. He became associated in large financial enterprises with prominent business men.

His wife, who was Miss Johnstone, of Georgia, died about two years ago. Mr. Wilson was among the first to recognize the advantages of Newport and always spent his summers there.

HAD TO CLIMB
Firemen Went up 15
Flights of Stairs

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The failure of the elevator machinery in a 15-story lot building in West 27th street early today forced a squad of firemen to climb 15 long flights of windmill stairs to reach a fire which had started in a storeroom full of uprooted embroidery silks. The delay, incident to the watchman's attempt to carry the firemen aloft in the elevator, gave the fire a head start by the time the hose was coiled and water poured in on the blaze.

Four hundred thousand spools of embroidery silk were destroyed and several thousand dollars damage done to the building.

PRES. ANDREWS
IN SERIOUS CONDITION IN SANITARIUM

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Since his return, several weeks ago, from an extended tour, E. Benjamin Andrews, former chancellor of the University of Nebraska and also president of Brown university, Providence, R. I., has been a patient in a local sanitarium. His condition, it was learned last night, is not improved and his friends are concerned over what is regarded as a critical ailment.

A LIFELESS MARKET
FLUCTUATIONS FEEDLE AT OPENING OF DAY
An Aimless Market Throughout—Altimetrum Pfd Advanced 1 and U. S. Rubber Lost 1/4

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The fluctuations shown by the opening prices of stocks were too feeble to indicate any decided trend in the market. Dealings were on a very small scale. Narrow gains and losses were mixed. Pacific Mail advanced 1/4.

The market drifted along in an aimless fashion and was inclined to droop, although none of the representative stocks varied more than a quarter from the opening. U. S. Steel, U. P., and Reading accounted for most of the small business. Altimetrum pfd. advanced 1 and U. S. Rubber lost 1/4.

The market closed steady and lifeless. Prices dropped from inattention, but the selling was wholly unimportant and the decline halted. The only sentiment perceptible was one of importance for the close of the session.

ARE AFTER MONEY
City Depts. After Appropriations Committee

Some of the city departments, as usual, are hot-footing it after the committee on appropriations for money to piece them out for the year, and among the calls that cannot very well be overlooked are those of the state aid department and the board of health.

Unless the committee sees fit to recommend some extra for the state aid department, the soldiers' relief for the present month will have to go unpaid. There is just about money enough to the credit of the department to pay the state aid.

At the end of the present month the board of health will owe about $250, mostly for contagious diseases. As asked in September the board committee for money for contagious diseases, but none has been forthcoming up to the present time. The department owes towns and cities and the state, too, for the care of patients and the department has been forced to issue some pretty sharp messages from its creditors, who are not satisfied with the excuses. "We haven't the money." The health department will not have money even when its credit next week to pay the yard help.

INCENDIARY FIRE
CAUSES A LOSS OF $40,000 AT WARWICK, R. I.

WARWICK, R. I., Nov. 26.—A fire, believed to have been of incendiary origin, destroyed Thornton's theatre at Riverpoint early today and threatened at times to assume the proportions of a conflagration. The loss is $40,000.

The theatre was located in the popular part of the town and but for the fact that the roofs of the adjacent houses were rain-soaked from yesterday's showers, it is believed that the whole district would have been swept. The concerted efforts of all the fire apparatus in the Pawtuxet valley, however, confined the flames to the theatre and a few sheds. The building was a large three-story structure, occupied by moving picture theatre, armory, saloon and store.

In 1874 he played Titus to the Brutus of Edwin Booth. He was graduated from Harvard in the same year that he appeared with Booth and was the first alumnus of that university to adopt the stage as a career.

"EFFECTIVE MEANS"

Tolstoi's Last Article Was on Capital Punishment

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 26.—The Associated Press received early this morning from Vladimir Tschertkov, literary agent of the late Count Leo Tolstoi, the last article written by Tolstoi. It is entitled "Effective Means" and was written by Tolstoi in the Optina monastery, November 11, shortly after he began his self imposed exile from home. The article was given to The Associated Press by M. Tschertkov at the express wish of Count Tolstoi for dissemination to mankind. It says: "I am naturally anxious to do all I can against evil, which tortures the best spirits of our time. I think the present effective war against capital punishment does not need forcing; there is no need for an expression of indignation against its immorality, cruelty and absurdity—every sincere thinking person, everybody knowing from youth the sixth commandment and its meaning, there is no need for descriptions of the horrors of executions as they only effect the hangman, so men will more unwillingly become executioners and governments will be obliged to compensate them more dearly for their services. "Therefore, if we readily wish to destroy the delusion of capital punishment and if we possess the knowledge which destroys this delusion, let us, in spite of all menaces, deprivations and sufferings, teach the people this knowledge, because it is solely the effective means in the fight. "Leo Tolstoi. (Signed) "Optina Monastery, Nov. 11."

LABOR CRISIS IN LYNN

LYNN, Nov. 26.—There is a possibility that 16,000 shoe operatives employed by twenty shoe manufacturing concerns in this city will soon be forced out of work as a result of a demand made on the manufacturers by the business agent of the lasters and lasting machine operatives' union that beginning December 1 a new price list on two grades of high toe last shoes be put into effect. The increase demanded on one grade of shoes is one cent per pair, while on the other a two cent per pair increase is demanded.

The manufacturers declare that the increase demanded is unreasonable and intimate that they are going to fight the demand. It is also said that several of them are thinking seriously of leaving the city before they will pay the increase. The lasters and lasting machine operatives' union is affiliated with the United Shoe Workers Union of America.

OYSTERMEN IN COURT

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 26.—Charged with shipping out of this state oysters that were "filthy, decomposed and putrid animal substance, unfit for human consumption," six oystermen appeared before Judge Brown in the court here today. All pleaded not guilty and were held for trial. A charge was also filed against Hartley and David Alwood of Boston for the same offence, but neither appeared.

ELEVEN MINERS ENTOMBED

PROVIDENCE, Ky., Nov. 26.—All hope of rescuing alive any of the eleven miners entombed in mine number 8 of the Providence Mining Co. here late yesterday was dissipated today when the rescuing party reached that portion of the mine where the explosion occurred. Under a mass of debris and in a gas-filled chamber, which the government experts could enter only with their oxygen helmets, three bodies were found today. They were badly mutilated.

MORAN FAVORITE J. AVISON BAKER A BIG TELEPHONE MERGER

In Betting on Tonight's Lightweight Battle

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—A sudden change in the overnight betting has made Owen Moran an 8 to 10 favorite over Battling Nelson for their fight this afternoon in Cofreth open-air arena here. Wagering on the contest all along has been at even money and the unexpected shift of odds has caused the fight fans to engage in much speculation over the eleventh hour turn of sentiment. Betting Commissioner Tom Corbett says a belated rush of Moran money was the cause.

Today's fight is looked on as an elimination contest for a chance to challenge for the lightweight championship. It will be a 20 round bout and Ben Selig will referee.

BOXING GOSSIP

Judging from the talk about town quite a delegation will visit the Army club in Boston Tuesday to witness the great bout between Jimmy Gardner and Frank Klaus.

There will be no disappointment this time on Jimmy's side on the score of condition, as the Army club has taken exceptional care to see that he kept at his work. But there was very little need of supervision, for Gardner is more determined to win this bout than any other in which he ever engaged. He has been "roasted" so much for not paying strict attention to his training when scheduled to engage in a contest that he has made an honest try on the present occasion, and will be there as fit as possible next Tuesday.

The preliminary bouts are exceptionally good. In the opening one, Lowell's favorite, Freddie Maguire meets Tommy Flanagan of Cambridge. Young McGovern of Woburn goes against George Alger; and Joe Nelson of Lawrence has to face Tommy Purey of Attleboro.

Retires as Leader of the First Baptist Choir

After eighteen and one-half years at the head of the choir of the First Baptist church, Mr. J. Avison Baker will retire and will be succeeded by Mr. William R. Lane of Boston. Mr. Lane is well known in Lowell as the director of the Choral choir. He is a man of wide experience as a vocal teacher and conductor. He comes to Lowell with very favorable recommendations from the Boston churches that he has served and that would be glad to have him return. The opportunity to secure him came to the music committee of the First Baptist church a few weeks ago and after the committee had consulted with other leading men in the church, it was thought best to engage him when the present director, Mr. J. Avison Baker, should retire, which he is about to do with full salary to Jan. 1. It is understood Mr. Baker has already accepted another important position.

Mr. Baker has been director of music at the First Baptist church since June, 1892, and has been one of the most popular and successful choir masters in the history of Lowell. He has also been teacher of singing in the public schools of Billerica, Groton, Tewksbury and other towns in this vicinity, and a very large proportion of the successful singers in Lowell in the past forty years have been among his pupils.

It is understood that the chorus choir will be continued at the First Baptist church and that it will be materially strengthened. Mr. Henry Hardy, the bass, will retire. He goes to the Calvary Baptist church Dec. 1.

JACK JOHNSON

CHARGED WITH ASSAULT BY WHITE WOMAN

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Jack Johnson, the colored champion heavyweight pugilist of the world, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a warrant issued by Magistrate Preschl, charged with assault upon Emily Cooper, a white girl, who is a member of a theatrical company in which the fighter is appearing.

The complainant did not appear, but sent word that she was ill in bed, and the hearing was adjourned. The charge was one of simple assault and disorderly conduct.

"This thing is a frame-up," said Johnson. "I'm going to fight it to a finish and show them that I'm no easy mark."

IS BEING SECRETLY FORMED

T.N. VAIL

"DID YOU RING?"

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—There is no doubt but what the American Telephone and Telegraph company is at work secretly to unite all the telephone systems in the country. Whether the work will be accomplished or not is another question. It appears that Theodore N. Vail, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, is the prime mover in the plan, which, if successful, would give the Bell interests a complete monopoly.

Mr. Vail, it is understood, has visited a large number of cities recently in furtherance of the plan. It was reported that as one of the steps in a gigantic merger efforts were being made to form a $50,000,000 company to take over and consolidate several independent companies in Ohio, Michigan and eastern New York. Conferences were held in New York, it was said, by prominent telephone men, but they were conducted with such secrecy that news of them was kept from the public at that time. According to Wall street report, the financial power back of the plan is the house of J. P. Morgan & Co. In the street President Vail is looked upon as Mr. Morgan's representative in telephone matters. J. P. Morgan & Co. hold large blocks of the stock of independent companies in the middle west, having got the shares in a rather peculiar way. The story is told in some measure in the deposition of J. J. Hall, vice president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, in a recent suit in Ohio. It appeared that the Bell company had been negotiating for the purchase of a controlling interest in the stock of the United States Telephone company of Ohio, the Cuyahoga, the Toledo Home, two Indiana companies, the Indianapolis and the New Long Distance, the Huntington (W. Va.) Telephone company and others. Fear of the Sherman anti-trust law prevented the consummation of the deal, and so a means was sought to accomplish the purpose in a roundabout way. This was done by the Bell company lending $7,000,000 to the banking firm of R. L. Day & Co., who acquired the properties with the understanding they should hold them until the Bell people had devised a way to take them over. But the Sherman law could not be got around in the opinion of the Bell lawyers, so President Vail had to notify Day & Co. they would have to find another market for the telephone securities. Day & Co. then got J. P. Morgan & Co. to take the stock, and that firm still holds it.

AMERICAN KILLED

He Was Shot Down by a Mexican Officer

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 26.—Jas. M. Reid of Houston, Miss., a civil engineer, was, according to a despatch yesterday from Mexico City, killed there by a policeman named Sebastian Vardel, who sought, by taking the life of an American, to avenge the burning of Antonio Rodriguez by a mob in Texas.

Vardel was placed in jail. The United States ambassador has instituted a thorough investigation and will make demands for indemnity on the Mexican government.

Reid was 33 years old and spent 10 years in Argentina as a surveyor and civil engineer.

The floor Thursday night came after five rounds of fighting in which he showed little initiative. His opponent, Jack Leon, forced the fighting all the time, landing a hard right swing to the jaw for a knockout.

Dunning leaves a wife and family in Portland.

BOWLING GAMES

Some Good Scores in Last Night's Contests

There was something doing in the Electric Light league last night. Two games were played and while the scores in neither were very high, the enthusiasm ran high. In the game between the Office and Electricians' teams the latter won two points and lost the third by a margin of two pins. The other game was between the Station and Construction teams, the latter team winning at three points.

The Lawrence and Tremont & Suffolk teams contested in the Manufacturers league and the Lawrence quintet put it all over its opponents. Pillsbury of the winning team, with a single of 110 and triple of 305, was the king pin.

Blackley's Pets and Pratt's Pets, two teams made up of employees of the Merrimack Repair Shop, met on the alleys last night, and the latter team won by a safe margin.

The Bosses and Machine Shop teams of the Lowell Blackcherry clashed last night, but there was little or no excitement to the game, owing to the one-sidedness, the former team, winning by nearly 100 pins.

The scores:

Temporary Heat Quickly

Did you ever stop to think of the many ways in which a perfect oil heater is of value? If you want to sleep with your window open in winter, you can get sufficient heat from an oil heater while you undress at night, and then turn it off. Apply a match in the morning, when you get out of bed, and you have heat while you dress.

Those who have to eat an early breakfast before the stove is radiating heat can get immediate warmth from an oil heater, and then turn it off.

The girl who practices on the piano in a cold room in the morning can have warmth from an oil heater while she plays, and then turn it off.

The member of the family who has to walk the floor on a cold winter's night with a restless baby can get temporary heat with an oil heater, and then turn it off. The

GOES TO BOSTON

Nat. Commission Gives Pitcher to Doves

Bill McTigue, the husky left-hander over whose services there was some little tangle in league circles, will pitch for the Boston Nationals next season. The National commission notified the Boston club officials to that effect yesterday.

McTigue pitched for New Bedford last season, winning a majority of his games. Boston drafted him from Haverhill when he was with that club. Other clubs, notably Pittsburg and Boston Americans, also had drafts in for him, but Fred Lake's claim was the one allowed. Lake wants to think he will prove successful in the big league.

McTigue is a Southern boy and was "discovered" by Joe Boyle, the former Lowell catcher.

SURPRISE PARTY

TENDERED MISS VERA QUINN BY YOUNG FRIENDS

Miss Vera Quinn was agreeably surprised Thursday evening, when about forty of her friends assembled at her home, 36 Pond street, and presented her with a handsome ring. Mr. Edward Rogers, on behalf of the gathering, made the presentation speech. Although Miss Quinn was completely taken by surprise, she responded in a graceful manner and thanked her many friends for their token.

During the evening various games were enjoyed, while refreshments were served by Misses Agnes Tully, Mary Martin and Theresa Quinn. Miss Mary Conroy opened the evening's entertainment by a short comic recitation. Miss Elizabeth Quinn next rendered "Love is Only a Dream" in a charming manner. Joseph Sousa followed in an impersonation of Julian Eltinge in a song "Why Do They Call Me the Gibson Girl." His encore being "Oh, You Can't Kid." Miss Mabel Hay then recited "Thanksgiving Recollections." A quartet, composed of William Gil-

THE LOWELL SUN

JOHN H. HARRINGTON, Proprietor
SUN BUILDING, MERRIMACK SQUARE, LOWELL, MASS.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1909 was 16,828

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

According to the census returns, ward six is nearly twice as big as any other two wards and will stand partition when the time comes for another gerrymander.

The historical sketch of the Colburn school in another column is well worth reading. It will be especially interesting to the graduates of that school.

Mr. Jesse D. Crook very generously offers the free use of Hamilton hall to the charter committee for a public meeting. Such public spirit is commendable. Mr. Crook evidently realizes how much we need a new charter.

Miss Leneve is still in England and in view of her frequent visits to Dr. Crippen after his sentence and her alleged attempts to merchandise his confession, public opinion in regard to her has changed very much, at least in this country.

RUEF MUST SERVE SENTENCE

Grafter Ruef, the San Francisco boss, has failed to have the sentence of the lower court set aside or even modified. He will, therefore, have to serve fourteen years in prison.

Ruef placed some large amounts to carry a scheme for keeping the price of gas at 85 cents instead of 75 cents, and he paid eight supervisors of an independent telephone company the sum of $3500 each for voting for its franchise. The conviction of Ruef will be a lesson to others who have been in the same business in different parts of the country.

THE CONTAGIOUS HOSPITAL

The Charity and Health Boards are to be commended for urging upon the city council with such force the necessity of a contagious hospital. The appropriations committee deserves credit also for its prompt action in recommending enough to start the work of drawing plans for a $50,000 hospital.

When any infectious disease breaks out in a congested district the only effective way to prevent its spread is to remove the patient to a place where he or she can be effectually isolated. For that purpose a hospital is needed in which there will be several separate apartments so that the patients suffering from one disease will not be exposed to the contagion of another.

The quarantine rules of the health board are very difficult of enforcement as people who have relatives sick will take dangerous chances. At present the Lowell hospital is the only one that has a contagious ward. The lack of proper accommodations for isolation which would be provided in such a hospital costs the city many lives in the course of a year.

From the homes these diseases are brought to the schools and thus widely spread, whereas by timely removal to a hospital the spread of the disease from the first case would be impossible.

Of course not all cases of contagious diseases would be sent to such a hospital. Where families can take proper care of such a case at home and where they can be relied upon to comply with the rules of the health department, there is not so much cause for a hospital, but where people live in close quarters and where all rules are sure to be violated the isolation afforded by the hospital is the only safeguard of the community.

CONSERVATIVE ACTION AND OFFICIAL HORN-BLOWING

Now that the municipal campaign is at hand, it may be in order to remark that Mayor Meehan has given the city a clean, progressive yet conservative administration of its affairs without making much noise or disturbance. It should be remembered also that he is opposed to the horn-blowing method adopted by some officials who employ skilled press agents to keep their names continually before the public in the most favorable light. This is on a par with the methods of the prominent actors who have their press agents to boom them, not only whenever they do anything but when in reality they do nothing.

The notoriety seekers enter public office and instead of attending to the city's business in a quiet and dignified manner, they devote practically their entire time to the game of political horn-blowing. That is a new method of bluffing the public; but it has been done in Lowell and other cities and is quite successful in its purpose which is to delude the public.

Mayor Meehan is not one of the horn-blowing officials. He believes in the modest conservative policy followed by the old style mayors, such as Fifield, Pickman, Abbott, Greenhalge, who never wished to cackle through the press whenever they performed an ordinary act of official duty. It is beneath the dignity of any honest official to employ a man for the purpose of keeping his name before the public. The fact that he does so is a sign of weakness, because it often happens that the official horn-blowers diverge very far from the truth and impose upon the newspapers as well as the public.

For this reason the public should not imagine that Mayor Meehan has been forgetful of the city's business because he did not employ a press agent. Neither does Mayor Meehan believe in continual and unnecessary turmoil and disturbance. In common with a majority of our citizens he believes an honest and conservative policy that keeps the city abreast of the times is what the citizens want. He believes that the official wrangling for possession of public offices and the opera bouffe style of administration though approved by some only serve to injure the reputation of the city.

The voters should look into this matter carefully in order to reach a right conclusion as to whether Mayor Meehan should be blamed because he has refused to seek notoriety by sensational methods that serve only to excite the community and injure the reputation of our city.

Joseph P. Swift, of the Dracut Navy Yard, who was well known in this city, died yesterday in Los Angeles, California. Owing to his popularity the news of his death will come as a shock to his many friends. Last March he went to Seattle, Wash. in order to recuperate and about six weeks ago removed to Los Angeles. The deceased was formerly manager of the Ketchup A. C. baseball team, which made a good record among the semi-professional teams of Lowell and surrounding towns, and the good standing of the team reflects much credit upon its director, while the latter enjoyed the good will of his players and the friendship of his opponents.

HATTIE LEBLANC

Broke Down For First Time in Jail

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 26.—Hattie LeBlanc broke down yesterday for the first time since her arrest on the charge of murdering Clarence F. Glover in Waltham a year ago, and begged her 74-year-old father, Abram LeBlanc, whom she saw for the first time in two years, to take her away with him to their home in West Arichat in Cape Breton, where her mother lies seriously ill.

Last night it was reported that Hattie was much depressed, and her friends believe that the long strain resulting from her detention in jail is having its effect, and the girl is breaking down as the hour of her trial approaches.

Yesterday was the first time that the young girl, whose ordeal will begin on Monday, has seemed to feel the seriousness of her plight and to realize that her life may be the penalty for the mysterious murder in the Waltham laundry which startled the community last November.

Begged to Be Taken Home

"She broke down and wept when she saw me," said the aged father last night, when he was seen at the home of another daughter in Gloucester. "Then she became hysterical and begged me to take her with me, when I told her how ill her mother was at home."

"It is not true that she does not realize the seriousness of the trial that is coming," she told me, that lately she had worked every minute of the day to drive the thought of the days that are coming out of her mind. She believes that she will go free. I have told her that I will be at the court house every day, and at the end of it all she hopes that she will be allowed to go back to her old home to bring comfort to her mother."

Abram LeBlanc came to Gloucester a few days ago, and will remain there with his daughters, half-sisters of the girl whose trial starts Monday, until a jury has decided his daughter's fate. With a grateful heart, he said, he could not understand why the aged man cried, the girl's father asked about his visit to the jail.

Finds Girl Has Become Woman

"It was a sad trial to me," he said, "to see the daughter who had been so well and so happy only two years ago confined in a cell and to realize that she had been shut up there for a year. She has grown in that year. She always has seemed to me like a girl until I saw her today, but she has altered in the two years that have passed since I saw her last. She is a woman now."

"I have sailed on ships into ports all over the world and I have passed through days and nights when I never expected to be alive the next day, but I never had such a bitter experience before as I did today."

"It all seemed so dreadful to me that I didn't like to talk to Hattie about her trial and about the crime that she is charged with. I kept away from that subject except to cheer her up by

NOT A PARTICLE OF CLEAR SKIN

On Baby's Face, Head and Shoulders. Parents Decided He Could Not be Cured. Cuticura Remedies Made His Skin Perfectly Clear.

Our boy was born in Toronto on Oct. 13, 1908, and when three months old a slight rash appeared on his cheek. What appeared to be a water blister would form. When it broke, matter would run out, starting new blisters until his entire face, head and shoulders were a mass of scabs and you could not see a particle of clear skin. Other parts of his body were affected, but not to such an extent. We did not know what to do for him and tried about every advertised remedy without avail, indeed some of them only added to his suffering and one in particular, the ——— Remedy, almost put the infant into convulsions. The family doctor prescribed for him and told us to bathe the baby in buttermilk. This did not do any good, so we took him to a hospital. He was treated as an out-patient twice a week and he got worse, if anything. We then called in another doctor and inside of a week the boy was, at all appearances, cured and the doctor said his work was done. But the very next day it broke out as bad as ever.

We decided that it could not be cured and must run its course and so we just kept his arms bandaged to his side to prevent his tearing his flesh. We left Toronto and shortly after our arrival in Duluth, the Cuticura Remedies were recommended. We started using them in May, 1909, and soon the cure was complete. At the time of writing you would not think he was the same child for Cuticura made his skin perfectly clear and he is entirely free from the skin disease. There has been no return this time. We still use only Cuticura Soap for baby's bath.

Somerville Man Had Been Missing Six Months

Disappeared on Eve of Wedding and Police of Two Countries Were Unable to Trace Him—His Re-Appearance Also Mysterious

BOSTON, Nov. 26.—Alfred A. Reardon, 37 years old, of 3 Hahock street, Somerville, who mysteriously disappeared on April 15, 12 days prior to the day of his intended marriage to Miss Ellen Hasson of 32 Newman street, South Boston, returned to his father's house on Thanksgiving day morning.

The case, however, remains involved in as much mystery as before because the explanation given by his family of his absence is at variance with the facts as reported upon his disappearance. Since his return he has been kept in seclusion and reporters have not been allowed to see him.

Reardon is the son of J. Warren Reardon, a dealer in rubber goods at 3 Tremont row, and worked for him as a traveling salesman prior to his disappearance.

The case has been an international mystery, and the state departments of the United States and Great Britain have taken part in the investigation.

There has been reports of kidnapping, robbery and murder and other suggestions as to the cause of the absence of the young man.

At one time it was thought he had turned up in London, suffering from a lapse of memory and laboring under the delusion that he was J. E. Drexel, a member of the Philadelphia family of millionaires.

But this man was neither Drexel nor Reardon.

The police departments and great detectives of the world have diligently sought the missing young man, while his father and mother feared he was murdered.

Disappeared From New York

"Al" Reardon was a romantic youth even when he was a lad about a Boston newspaper office, but he was always so genial and ready with witty remarks that he was exceedingly popular.

His wooing of Miss Hasson was watched with interest by his friends, for it was generally admitted that they were a happy couple, well suited.

Young Reardon furnished a cozy flat in Somerville and Miss Hasson had her wedding gowns completed.

Then Reardon started for New York city to attend an installation of officers of a lodge of a secret society of which he is a prominent member.

He attended the exercises on the evening of April 15 and he was not seen again after he left the lodge room for his hotel until Thanksgiving day morning, when he appeared at the door of his father's house and fell into his mother's arms and wept.

When he disappeared he was well dressed, had about $100 in cash with him, a gold watch and chain and a large diamond set in a ring worn on a finger of his left hand.

Police Search Begun

When he did not return home on the appointed day his family was disturbed, but when he failed to arrive in time for his marriage to Miss Hasson there was great consternation and the marriage invitations were recalled.

With apprehension for it seemed as if nothing short of a terrible accident or death could keep "Al" Reardon from his own wedding.

Then the police were appealed to. Deputy Supt. William B. Walls of the Boston bureau of criminal investigation sent out the word to the police of the world and the search was begun in earnest.

J. Warren Reardon, father of the boy, made a personal investigation. He went to New York and the police there made an investigation on the theory that the young man had possibly been assaulted, robbed and murdered and his body thrown into the East river.

On July 31, a young man was found wandering in a state of mental collapse, along the banks of the Thames river in London. His general description answered that of Reardon. He told a weird story of having been taken into a hotel in New York, drugged, brought to London and then drugged again. He also said he had escaped and wandered about the streets until he was found. He claimed he was J. E. Drexel, a member of the Philadelphia family of millionaires.

THE SHEDD SKATING PARK.

The skating park as laid out by the park department and indicated on the above diagram will have an area of about three and a half acres. It will be easy of access from Rogers street, a short distance beyond the Shedd gate.

Supt. Whitte of the park department is throwing up a number of trenches at points where the water might escape from the main park. The area has been cleared of brush and all the holes will be filled so that there will be no danger on account of depth at any point. The area to be covered with water should accommodate 500 skaters at one time without any crowding. It will be a very popular feature and lighting arrangements will be made so that it can be used at night as well as in the day time.

Merrimack St. Paving Job Finished

The smooth paving job in Merrimack street from the railroad crossing at Dutton street to Tilden street received the finishing touches today.

When the job started the superintendent of streets feared that winter would set in before the job was finished, but despite the fact that he was considerably inconvenienced because of delay in the arrival of the stone blocks the job was finished in good season.

The job was two good reasons why the job was pushed through in quick order. The first good reason was because the weather was favorable, exceptionally so for this time of year, and the second reason was that the "gang" pulled together and worked with all their might. It was stated today that they were as good and faithful a crowd of men as ever worked on a city job. John Bowers was the boss and the men were with him every minute. It is generally conceded that there isn't a man in the country who knows the paving job better than John Bowers and he knows how to have a man do his best work without ruffling his feathers.

Not a man quit the job from the time it started till it finished and when Mr. Bowers asked them if they wanted to work on Thanksgiving day they said they did; that they wanted to finish the job while the weather was good. They worked every Sunday and every man in the gang was on the job every minute.

There is a little grading to be done in front of the Yoric club in Dutton street and about 40 feet of paving will be relaid in Moody street in order to make it approach to the new paving as moderate as possible.

A BOLD ROBBERY

Malden Man Held Up by Thugs

MALDEN, Nov. 26.—Amory M. Cobb of 60 Glen avenue was assaulted and robbed by two young men about 9 o'clock last night in Summer street.

The robbery was one of the boldest reported to the police of the city in some time, and the thieves got $200 cash and Mr. Cobb's gold watch, which he values at $150.

Mr. Cobb was in Boston yesterday afternoon and went to a restaurant for lunch, where he became acquainted with the two young men, who sat at the same table with him. They were well dressed and sociable and they discussed a number of subjects before they left the restaurant.

They went to a saloon in Court street, where they had a drink or two, and while he was paying for his drinks Mr. Cobb showed a large roll of bills.

To the North station and boarded the same train. They told him they were going to Wakefield but they left the train in this city and followed him through the streets a short distance behind.

As he was passing through Summer street they closed upon him in a lonely place and one of them struck him on the head with a bottle. The blow stunned him and before he could do anything to beat off his assailants one of them seized him by the arms and held him while the other searched his pockets and took his money and watch.

Cobb, when he recovered, returned to the railroad station and telephoned to the police station. He was unable to give much of a description of the thieves. They were young men, he said, about 21 or 22 years old, well dressed and smooth shaven.

HORSE DROWNED

Double Team Backed Into Merrimack River

A double team employed on the state highway job below Bello Grove, in backing up to the edge of the embankment on the river side, backed too far and the weight of the wagon and its contents carried the two horses over the embankment into the river. Workmen rushed to the assistance of the animals and by releasing the harnesses succeeded in rescuing one, but the other was drowned.

NO TRACE OF GOODWIN

DANVERS, Nov. 26.—An all-night search by the police of Danvers and neighboring cities and towns brought forth no trace of Chester Goodwin, who is alleged to have shot and killed Bertram W. Galloway, the friend with whom he boarded, during a quarrel last night. Arthur G. Wells, a member of the Massachusetts district police, came here today to assist Chief Joseph Merrill of the local police force in the search for the alleged murderer. It is generally believed that Goodwin committed suicide after killing Galloway. Porters river, a small branch of the sea that runs up to Danversport, flows in the rear of the Galloway home, where last night's tragedy occurred, and the police think that as soon as he realized that he had killed his friend, Goodwin drowned himself. Because of the strong tide the dragging of the river was considered impracticable and a search of the river was planned for this afternoon, when the tide will be low.

VESSELS RETURN TO HARBOR

RIO JANEIRO, Nov. 26.—The multimasted vessels of the Brazilian navy, which put to sea yesterday to avail positive assurance of the government's good faith in granting their demands for naval reforms and full amnesty, spent the night outside the bar, returning to the harbor this morning. The warships were still flying the red flag, but the crews made it known that they would be turned over to the authorities according to the terms of surrender agreed on at noon.

New commanding officers have been appointed by the mutineers.

WARN MILKMEN

As to Untidy Conditions in Their Barns

ONE MAN TOLD TO STOP SELLING MILK

Until the Board of Health Has a Chance to Investigate His Barns—Milk Inspector Finds Bacteria in Alarming Numbers

Several milk men appeared before the board of health yesterday afternoon and were told things relative to the condition of their milk that seemed to surprise them. The bacteriological count was so high in one case that the milk was nothing more nor less than a menace for consumption. The milkman was also taken to task for the untidy condition of their milk rooms and wagons.

Several of the dealers appeared to explain as to little details that they had made in the board's rules. One milkman stood up when told that his milk contained more than 500,000 germs to the cubic centimeter. Another took the milk handled by him contained no less than 650,000 germs per cubic centimeter. To another man the board chairman said: "Your milk is rotten. It's alive with germs. It has 2,000,000 germs per cubic centimeter. It is not fit to use. Stop selling until we make an inspection and do not attempt to sell any more milk until we give you permission."

Dr. Martin said that some of the farms would have to go out of the milk business because they were not selling clean milk. "We want to stop the handling of milk out of dairies as much as possible," said the chairman.

ADJT. GENERAL

Capt. Pearson Appears to Have the Pole

BOSTON, Nov. 26.—The contest for the position of adjutant general of the state militia is now narrowed down to three candidates, so it was said by close friends of Gov.-elect Foss yesterday—Adj. Gen. William H. Brigham, the present incumbent, Gen. William Stearns of Beverly, who was adjutant general under Governor Douglas, and Capt. Gardner W. Pearson of Lowell, cousin of Congressman Butler Ames, and a company commander in the 6th regiment. Mr. V. M. Major Perle A. Dyer is out of it. He told the governor-elect that the position would require all of his time and that he didn't feel that he could neglect his business and that he didn't care to be considered for the place. Dyer is said to be opposed to the reappointment of Gen. Brigham.

Col. Winthrop M. Merrill is also out of it, so it was said last evening.

A close political friend of the governor-elect said yesterday that he would bet dollars to doughnuts that Capt. Gardner W. Pearson would be appointed by the new governor as his adjutant general.

Pearson was an active Foss man in the primaries and during the campaign for governor.

Precious as the breath of Truth, Mingling with our hopes above.

We this edifice have crowned;
T'wixt with wreaths the shafts around
As our songs ascend the skies.

Pane and mullion, door and wall,
Let baptismal drops be spread;
And his mantle litter fall,
Spirit sponsor, honored dead!

'Tis the threshold where shall tread,
Waiting feet for glory's way;
Where the downy wing shall spread,
Ere it tremble on the day.

Tender hands shall fold the page,
Light the torch of science here;
That shall over manhood age,
In the dreariest way appear.

May its flame yield glorious light,
As life's summer flowers decay;
Nor make darker death's dread night—
God of heaven, to thee we pray.

The Colburn Grammar school was opened at the commencement of the winter term, under the tuition of Mr. Aaron Walker, Jr., who had been principal of the Green school, but for several years preceding 1885 had been teaching at Charlestown. His assistants were Elizabeth Clement and Mary E. Fletcher (in 1882, Mary P. Norton (in 1884, Fidelia O. Dodge and Lucinda E. True were elected in 1882, and C. A. Woods in 1884. In 1884 Mr. Walker resigned to study medicine and was succeeded by Mrs. Fidelia O. Dodge, principal, and Elizabeth W. Frost, assistant.

In 1870 Mrs. Dodge was transferred, as first assistant, to the Green school and Mr. Perley Balch was elected to succeed her as principal of the Colburn school. In 1874 Mr. Balch was transferred to the Franklin school, and Albert L. Batcheller was elected principal of the Colburn school. Mr. Batcheller's success as a teacher in this school fully established his reputation and he was elected principal of the Green school. He was succeeded by George W. Howe, as principal of the Colburn school. Mr. Howe was a Lowell boy, a graduate of Bowdoin college and studied for the ministry.

In 1891, as it was necessary to have the grammar grades so that the pupils teachers might have an opportunity to get experience, Mr. Howe was transferred to the Varnum school, and the Colburn became a part of the training school with Mrs. Julia M. Dewey as principal. She resigned in 1892 to accept the position of superintendent of schools in North Adams, and was succeeded by Miss Katherine Keyes who resigned in June 1895 to wed Dr. Stephen Johnson.

In September 1895, Miss Gertrude Edmund became principal and remained in the school until the spring of 1910, when she resigned to accept a more lucrative position in New York. The training school was discontinued as a part of the school system of Lowell in June 1910. The Colburn was re-named and placed on the list of grammar schools in August 1910. Helen M. Shean was appointed principal. Her assistants are Misses Margaret C. Fox, Anna T. McCarron, Lena Collins, Florence R. Foote, Frances L. Donahue, Mary J. Moynihan, Louise C. Thomas, Sadie A. Connor and Elizabeth A. Conway.

There are eight rooms in the Colburn, and a grammar room in the primary building in Charles street.

EXTRA NAVY VICTORIOUS VELVETEEN MILL

IN CASE OF FIRE Dalton Saves Day by Goal From Field

Chief Hosmer Gives Some Sound Advice

If People Keep Cool and Exercise Care There is No Occasion for Loss of Life—Prompt Notification of Fire Department the Principal Thing—Lowell Cannot Have a Fire Similar to That Which Occurred in Newark Today

The fire which broke out in a four-story wooden building in Newark, N. J., this morning in which 14 girls lost their lives, is sufficient to cause us to consider the possibility of such a catastrophe in Lowell. Fortunately, owing to the excellent fire department, Lowell has at the present time, there have been no really big fires, that is when the equipment of the local department and the population and number of buildings in this city are compared with the same in other cities.

distance, but as to the destruction of the building, the chances of a big fire in Lowell, especially in such a building during the daytime, would be small. The worst fires are at night when there are but few people present in a building, excepting a lodging-house or hotel.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 25.—The flags of the Army and of the Navy flutter all over Philadelphia today in honor of the football teams from West Point and Annapolis which will clash on Franklin field this afternoon after a lapse of two years. With perfect football weather and with both teams full of the fighting spirit that pervades the two great institutions which the players represent, a hard and high class football game is looked for by the nearly 30,000 persons who will witness the contest.

The Army and Navy game rages down the curtain of the football game in the east and this game has invariably furnished the most brilliant spectacle seen in this section during the football season. Washington society journeys to Franklin field in force and everybody who can get away from the war and navy and other departments at Washington will be found at the field. Army and navy officers, active and retired, living within a thousand miles of Philadelphia, are here to root for their favorites.

The Army contingent will occupy the south stand and the Navy the north. Because of the death of his son, Secretary of War Dickinson will not attend the game, but his private box will be occupied by Mrs. William H. Taft and her daughter and other friends whom the war secretary had invited to accompany him to this city. The Army will be officially represented by Assistant Secretary of War Oliver.

The honor of the navy will be upheld on the opposite side of the field by Secretary Meyer and a large number of members of that arm of the naval service. Philadelphia society will also be largely represented.

annual football games after a break of six years. Last year's game was canceled because of the death of Player Byrne from injuries received in a game played at West Point.

Today will be the 15th time that teams representing the two academies have met on the football field. Of the fourteen times they have met the Army has won seven and the navy six with one contest a tie.

The Army team came on the field at 1:15 and was followed a moment later by the Navy.

The two teams were greeted by tremendous cheering.

The Army's 15 yard mark. Dalton kicked the ball to Rodas in mid-field. Clay immediately returned the punt to the Army's 15 yard mark. Hyatt, who caught the ball, was thrown hard by Merdine. McDonald failed to gain around left end and Dean kicked to Rodas, who caught the ball on the Army's 47 yard mark.

Clay kicked out of bounds on the Army's 20 yard mark.

Dean kicked to Clay, who signalled for a fair catch on the Navy's 50 yard mark. Dalton elected to try for a goal from placement from the 50 yard mark. The ball fell a few feet short and was again put in play on the Army's 25 yard mark.

Hyatt, on a fake kick gained 10 yards around the Navy's left end. Dean kicked to the Navy's 45 yard mark and Rodas fumbled the ball, but a Navy man fell on the ball on Navy's 60-yard mark.

The ball was given to the Army for interference on their own 40-yard mark. Dean failed at center.

Dean kicked to Clay on the Navy's 25-yard mark and the Navy man carried it back 20 yards. Dalton kicked to the Army's 15-yard mark, where a soldier fumbled. Gilchrist fell on the ball only 10 yards from the Navy's position. The ball was in the Navy's possession on the Army's 10-yard mark when the time was called for the first half.

The second half.

The two teams came on the field again at 3:12 for the second half. There was no change in either lineup.

Employing 300 Hands in Operation by the Merrimack Mfg. Co.

It Will Produce More Than 2,000,000 Yards a Year—Electric Drives Installed at Hamilton Mills—Lowell Overseers Attend Convention at Boston

A velveteen mill is the latest addition to the mill industry in Lowell. The large mill recently built by the Merrimack Mfg. Co. is devoted to the making of velveteen and hundreds of machines are now in operation.

More than 300 hands are employed, and it is expected that the yearly production will exceed 2,000,000 yards. This addition and new industry is one of the most important of recent years and the average pay of the operatives will be considerably higher than the average wage in the other mills.

After Bond Was Turned Over to County

Civil Suit May be Brought to Recover Bond—Man Fined $20 in Police Court for Disorderly Conduct—Other Cases

Michael Stanton was charged in police court with unlawfully removing baggage from the boarding house of Mrs. Lariviere in Middlesex street. The complainant testified that the defendant and his son had boarded with her for several months and when he left the place a few weeks ago he owed her $8. Stanton stated that he had always paid the board in advance with the exception of a time when he ran in debt. He liquidated the debt and claimed that he still continued to pay in advance. He was found not guilty and discharged. William A. Hogan appeared for the defendant.

Drunken Offenders
John Shepard had been riding on the high seat of the "water wagon" for three months, but last week he took a fall and whether or not he received the discolored eye which he bore this morning as a result is a question. He was sent to jail for ten days.

James Dacey, who was on probation for neglect of wife, was charged with being drunk. He admitted his guilt, but owing to mitigating circumstances the court imposed a suspended sentence of three months in jail.

Joseph Paquin, drunk, was fined $3, and two simple offenders were released.

Mail Jumper Back

Emaciated, trembling, weighing 30 pounds less than he did a month ago and fearful as to what was to happen to him, John Sokolinsky, charged with assault and battery on Stanislaus Waskavitch, was led into police court this morning and surrendered. The assault in question occurred a month ago and Sokolinsky's default and subsequent appearance will result in a complication of matters in which there are apt to be civil as well as criminal proceedings and a hearing before the county commissioners before matters are straightened out.

On the night of Saturday, Oct. 29th, there was a wedding in Howe street, and as usual there was plenty of intoxicating beverages on hand and after several legs had been emptied a row was started. Sokolinsky and Waskavitch were among the guests present, and it is said that the latter was yielding a knife when Sokolinsky rushed into the fracas and while trying to take the knife away from the man received a rash in the right hand. It is alleged that Sokolinsky became infuriated and taking up a heavy glass tumbler threw it at Waskavitch, striking the latter on the head and inflicting a deep wound which necessitated the taking of a number of stitches.

Waskavitch was taken to St. John's hospital where he remained in a critical condition for several days. The police after a search of several houses located Sokolinsky in his home and placed him under arrest.

Friends wanted to bail him and when the bail was placed at $500 a friend offered cash to that amount. Owing to the conditions of the bail the friend's money could not be used unless there was a transfer, so the friend turned the money over to Sokolinsky and the latter offered it as his own and was released.

When the case was called in court it was found that Sokolinsky had disappeared and his default was recorded. Subsequently, according to law, the $500 in cash was turned over to the county treasurer.

Last night Sokolinsky walked into the office of his counsel in this city and said that he wanted to give himself up, that he was tired of being a fugitive from justice. The man said he had been sick, but whether he had been sick or had been worrying is not known. He was pale, his cheeks drawn in and said he had lost 30 pounds since he had been away. He said he had been visiting a cousin in Cambridgeport.

This morning Sokolinsky was brought into court and Judge Hadley deemed it advisable to increase the man's bond to $500. At the time of going to press there was no attempt to bail the man.

The man's default and subsequent surrender leads to a peculiar state of affairs. Inasmuch as the money put up as bail has been turned over to the county treasurer, the only chance that there is to get it or a proportion of it back is to petition the county commissioners.

If the money is forthcoming and Sokolinsky refuses to give it up to the man who furnished the $500, a civil suit is liable to take place. The criminal proceedings, that of the hearing of the complaint against him for assault and battery will be held next Tuesday.

Disorderly Conduct on Street

James S. Hickey, a young man of 19 years, was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with drunkenness and assault and battery on an unknown person. He admitted that he had been drinking and in all probability was intoxicated last night, but he said he knew nothing about the assault.

Patrolman Gilbert Sheridan informed the court that Hickey and three companions were passing through Central street, and annoying women.

The court found Hickey guilty on both complaints and ordered him to pay a fine of $20 within three days or be committed to all for three months on the assault and battery case, the case of drunkenness being placed on file.

FIRES ON DUMPS

KEPT FIREMEN BUSY FOR A WHILE

There were two lively fires on the dumps on either side of the Merrimack river this morning and a portion of the fire department was kept busy battling with them.

During the forenoon word was telephoned to the central fire station that there was a lively blaze on the dump on East Merrimack street. His assistants, Mr. Cornelius Vanderbit and Mrs. Ogden Goelet were at the bedside when the end came. Mr. Wilson had been a sufferer from heart disease for more than four years. It was six years ago that he was compelled to retire from active participation in business affairs.

Born in Hall county, Georgia, Mr. Wilson spent his younger days in Tennessee and Kentucky. He joined the Confederate army at the outbreak of the Civil war and won the rank of commissary general. As the fiscal agent of the Confederate government he went to Europe and was active there until the end of the war. In the late sixties he came to New York and established a cotton and banking firm. He became associated in large financial enterprises with prominent business men.

His wife, who was Miss Johnstone, of Georgia, died about two years ago. Mr. Wilson was among the first to recognize the advantages of Newport and always spent his summers there.

HAD TO CLIMB

Firemen Went up 15

Flights of Stairs

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The failure of the elevator machinery in a 16-story loft building in West 27th street early today forced a squad of firemen to climb 15 long flights of winding stairs to reach a fire which had started in a storeroom full of spooled embroidery silks. The delay, incident to the watchman's attempt to carry the firemen aloft in the elevator, gave the fire a good start by the time the hose was coupled and water poured in on the blaze.

Four hundred thousand spools of embroidery silk were destroyed and several thousand dollars damage done to the building.

PRES. ANDREWS

IN SERIOUS CONDITION IN SANITARIUM

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Since his return, several weeks ago, from an extended tour, Dr. Benjamin Andrews, former chancellor of the University of Nebraska and also president of Brown university, Providence, R. I., has been a patient in a local sanitarium. His condition, it was learned last night, is not improved, and his friends are concerned over what is regarded as a critical ailment.

A LIFELESS MARKET

FLUCTUATIONS FEEBLE AT OPENING OF DAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The fluctuations shown by the opening prices of stocks were too feeble to indicate any decided trend in the market. Dealings were on a very small scale. Narrow gains and losses were mixed. Pacific Mail advanced 1/4.

The market drifted along in an aimless fashion and was inclined to droop, although none of the representative stocks varied more than a quarter from the opening. U. S. Steel, U. P., and Reading accounted for most of the small business. Allis-Chalmers pf. advanced 1 and U. S. Rubber lost 1/4. The market closed steady and lifeless. Prices dropped from inattention, but the selling was wholly unimportant and the decline negligible. The only sentiment perceptible was one of importance for the close of the session.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Spot cotton closed quiet, 5 points up. Middling Uplands 15.15; Middling Gulf 15.40. No sales.

MANY CANADIANS

Are Candidates for Parliament in England

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 26.—Canadians are much interested in the general election campaign now in progress in Great Britain and Ireland. At least a dozen former Canadians are candidates for seats in the house of commons. Among the younger Canadians who have political aspirations in the old country is William Max Aitken of Montreal. Aitken is 31 years old and was born at Newcastle, N. B. He married a daughter of General Drury of Halifax. Mr. Aitken was offered a seat which is overwhelmingly unionist, but he decided to attempt to win a seat now held by the liberals. He will be the unionist candidate from the Ashton-Under-Lyne division of Lancashire. A. Bonar Law, at present member for the Dulwich division of Cumberland, is another Canadian who will be a unionist candidate in Lancashire. Hamar Greenwood, also a Canadian by birth, will contest Sunderland as a liberal. Other Canadians who are candidates include: Dr. J. E. Molson, Montreal, unionist, northeast division of Bethnal Green; Ian Malcolm, native of Quebec, unionist, Croydon; J. Allen Baker, native of Trenton, Ontario, radical, East Finsbury; I. Hamilton Benn, Quebec, unionist, Greenwich; Sir Gilbert Parker, Ontario, unionist, Gravesend; Donald MacMester, Montreal, unionist, Surry; Major E. F. Coate, unionist, Lewisham.

ARE AFTER MONEY

City Depts. After Appropriations Committee

Some of the city departments, as usual, are hot-footing it after the money to place them for the year, and among the walls that cannot very well be overlooked are those of the state aid department and the board of health.

Unless the committee sees fit to recommend some extra for the state aid department, the soldiers' relief for the present month will have to go unpaid. There is just about money enough to the credit of the department to pay the state aid.

At the end of the present month the board of health will owe about $2500, mostly for contagious diseases. As early as September the board asked the appropriations committee for money for contagious diseases, but none has been forthcoming up to the present time. The department owes towns and cities and the state, too, for the care of patients, and the department has been receiving some sharp messages from its creditors, who are not satisfied with the excuse, "We haven't the money." The health department will not have money enough to its credit next week to pay the yard help.

INCENDIARY FIRE

CAUSES A LOSS OF $40,000 AT WARWICK, R. I.

WARWICK, R. I., Nov. 26.—A fire, believed to have been of incendiary origin, destroyed Thornton's theatre at Riverpoint early today and threatened at times to assume the proportions of a conflagration. The loss is $40,000.

The theatre was located in the populous part of the town and but for the fact that the roofs of the adjacent houses were rain-soaked from yesterday's showers, it is believed that the whole district would have been swept. The concerted efforts of all the fire apparatus in the Pawtucket valley, however, confined the flames to the theatre and a few sheds. The building was a large three-story structure, occupied by a moving picture theatre, armory, saloon and store.

RIDDLE DYING

In 1874 he played Titus to the Brutus of Edwin Booth. He was graduated from Harvard in the same year that he appeared with Booth and was the alumnus of that university to adopt the stage as a career.

A SOCIAL PARTY

By Ladies of Notre Dame
De Lourdes

The feast of St. Catherine was celebrated last night by the young women of Notre Dame de Lourdes parish, an excellent entertainment program being carried out during the evening. During the early part of the evening there was a musical and literary program was carried out but but by no means least, came the distribution of candy kisses.

The musical program was varied and comprised selections by the Mulgrave children; Esther and Frederick, the little girl contributing a vocal selection, gave several numbers on the piano and also a Scotch dance, after which the young man gave a violin and vocal selection. Other numbers were given by the Highland orchestra; Miss Florina Lacroix, who played the piano; Messrs. Dominic Dimondina and Frank Lawrence, who played a violin and harp duet; Miss Dora Martin, who gave readings, and Miss Anna McNabb, who played the piano. At the conclusion of the program, Rev. Fr. Lamotho, O. M. L. the pastor, was pleasantly surprised by the presentation of a beautiful bouquet. Little Miss Juliette Lacroix presented it, in the name of the young women who organized the party. The prize winners at whist were: Cecile Palmer, Alex. Michaud, Richard Fournier, George Fournier, O. Carpentier, B. Velliste, Mrs. Lacroix, Mrs. Lawrence, Alfred Bedard, Aurèle Plante, Adélard Labrie, Mrs. Molleur, Raoul Ducharme, Elise Lafleur, Adélard-Bernard, Mrs. Perrin, Eva Lefebvre, Roseline Lefebvre, Mary Cote, Adele Michaud, Jos. The young ladies in charge of the party were Misses Marie Anne Richard and Lena Ducharme, Annie Bourdieu, Mabel Gaudette, Marie Robert, Myrqueto Hebert, Rose Anna Diette, Marie Fournier, Dora Martin, Zenaida Lemire, Emma Lamarche, Florina Lacroix, Celina Fournier.

NEGRO LYNCHED

After Murdering a 14
Year Old Girl

LITTLE MOUNTAIN, S. C., Nov. 26.—With his body riddled with bullets and a lantern hanging above his head, Flute Clark, a negro, lies dead on the side of Little Mountain. He was lynched by a mob of nearly 1000 men for the murder and attempted assault of the 14-year-old daughter of a well-to-do planter of this section. The crime was committed yesterday afternoon in the yard of the girl's home while she was alone. Her head was almost severed with a knife, following a fierce struggle. The negro was employed by the girl's father for 12 years. Following the crime, the negro visited the scene and assisted in carrying the body of the child to the house. He was later spirited to a secluded spot after making a confession, it is alleged, to a small crowd.

LANDLORD KILLED

Danvers Boarder Mixes
in a Family Quarrel

DANVERS, Nov. 26.—Angered because Chester Goodwin, a boarder, had taken his wife's part in a trifling quarrel, Bertram W. Galloway last night threatened to order Goodwin from the house with the result that Goodwin, the police say, secured a revolver and shot Galloway through the heart. Galloway died almost instantly while Goodwin made his escape.

Galloway and Goodwin were fellow-laborers on the state moth extermination work, and friends of long standing. They returned home to supper last night the best of friends. At the supper table Galloway asked his wife to do something for him. Mrs. Galloway, according to the police version of the affair, suggested that they wait until she had finished her supper, whereupon Galloway became impatient. Goodwin took the wife's part and the two men had words which finally resulted, it is said, in Goodwin's securing a revolver and shooting Galloway.

Fearing the Goodwins contemplated suicide, a son of the Galloways secured the revolver from him before he left. The police are now watching the river, in case Goodwin should attempt to end his life by drowning.

Galloway was a man of 25 while Goodwin is 22 years of age.

SEARS ADMITS

The Murder of Clergyman and Wife

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 26.—Rachael Sears, mother of John Sears, who is in jail here charged with the murder of Rev. Anzi Armstrong and his wife at Dutch Neck last night drew the web of evidence against her son still tighter in a statement which she made to Prosecutor William J. Crossley. According to the prosecutor the colored woman said she heard the shooting while she was up stairs and that she became frightened and hid under the bed. She came down stairs and saw the bodies of Dr. Armstrong and his wife lying on the floor and her son standing in the middle of the kitchen with a gun in his hand. She then told the prosecutor that she deformed announcing the murder because she wished to shield her son.

Because of this statement given to the prosecutor last night, the woman is in a bad physical condition and was not placed in a cell but sent to a ward in the jail hospital. The prosecutor stated last night that he was satisfied that the woman had no knowledge of the impending murder.

Prosecutor Crossley does not deny that Sears has made a confession, but he says that he will not divulge the information which he obtained from Sears until the time of the trial. In his talk with the prosecutor yesterday afternoon Sears is alleged to have said that he asked the aged minister for money and that a two dollar bill was given him by Dr. Armstrong. Sears is alleged to have said, directed him to purchase a dollar's worth of fruit and to keep the remaining change.

When the subject of the actual shooting was broached to Sears, he is alleged to have said according to a county official, that he shot Dr. Armstrong first and then killed his wife. The shooting occurred between the hours of 7 and 8.

The statement attributed to Sears that his mother "knew of the shooting shortly after it occurred" is borne out by the woman's story which she told to the prosecutor last night.

AMNESTY GIVEN

Mutinous Brazilian Sailors Are Pardoned

RIO JANEIRO, Nov. 26.—The chamber of deputies last evening, by a vote of 111 to 23, adopted a resolution granting amnesty to the mutinous sailors on board the battleships Minas Geraes and Sao Paulo, the coast defense ships Marshal Floriano and Marshal Deodoro and the scout ship Bahia. The senate had unanimously passed the measure Thursday.

Immediately after the lower house had voted to pardon the sailors for having mutinied and killed several of their officers and throwing shells into the city, President Ponce de Alencar, Deputy Carvalho to visit the Sao Paulo and confer with the mutineers.

The decision of the chamber was not reached until there had been stormy scenes and several fistfights on the floor. When on Thursday, the senate passed the measure the chamber immediately took up its consideration. The debate was without result, however, and the session was adjourned until yesterday.

President Ponce de Alencar had said that should the parliament vote amnesty he would sign the measure.

The chamber reassembled at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, but owing to the arguments of the deputies for and against the proposition the vote was not reached until last evening. Meanwhile the mutinous vessels, which had been waiting outside the bar since noon for a signal to come in, put to sea and disappeared. Their destination was not made known.

Congress meeting in extraordinary session, voted to concede every demand of the ultimatum presented Thursday, including general amnesty for the sailors who, after murdering many of their superior officers as was necessary to place them in complete control, trained the guns of the warships upon the capital.

What effect the outcome will have eventually on the discipline in the navy is a matter of some concern. The immediate effect is to give the sailors increased pay, shorter hours of service and less work through the recruiting of additional men and to abolish corporal punishment in the fleet.

Following the action of congress the mutineers went through the formality of surrendering, and before noon yesterday the city had resumed its normal activity and the public excitement had subsided.

While the revolt lasted the people of the city were kept in a state of suspense, fearing that the mutineers would make good their threat to blow up the capital unless their wishes were met. It is doubtful, however, that they would have taken this step in any event because of the likelihood of complications with Great Britain. During the progress of the revolt James Bryce, British ambassador to the United States, was the guest of Baron Rio Branco, the Brazilian foreign minister, and he would have been as likely as anyone to suffer from a bombardment.

On the other hand the mutinous battleship Sao Paulo had on board several British subjects, who accompanied the vessel on its first trip home after its construction at Barrow-in-Furness, Eng. At the outbreak of the trouble, Sir Wm. Haggard, British minister to Brazil, notified the Brazilian foreign office that any attempt of the loyal torpedo boats to destroy the revolting warships would be attended with danger to British subjects on board. It is also known that the government hesitated to damage the bulwarks of its navy.

There is no attempt to give a political color to the revolt, as only petty party officers participate with the sailors, but the mutinous ships constituted a controlling proportion of the fleet.

Brazil has but two dreadnoughts, the Minas Geraes and the Sao Paulo, and these being joined by the coast defense ships Marshal Floriano and Marshal Deodoro and the scout ship Bahia, the mutineers were in practical control of the fleet and if necessary to accomplish their ends, probably could have made short work of the smaller craft, consisting of six protected cruisers, three torpedo cruisers and several vessels of the auxiliary class.

The trouble among the sailors had been brewing for some time and when the Minas Geraes ran up the red flag Tuesday night, the other vessels soon followed her example. Captain Neves of the Minas Geraes and two officers were killed, as were several of the sea men who attacked them, as the officers preferred death to the surrender of the ship, and fought gamely.

The officers of the other mutinous warships fled and were put ashore. Throughout Wednesday and Thursday the city was at the mercy of the out-law crews, who dropped an occasional shell into the city to add force to the demands which were incorporated Thursday in an ultimatum to congress. The senate met Thursday hurriedly and unanimously agreed to offer amnesty to the revolters. They hesitated, delaying action until yesterday. That night the Minas Geraes anchored opposite the government palace with her deck cleared for action. The Marshal Deodoro, nearby, fired a few shots at the naval arsenal. These tactics were successful in persuading the government that the mutineers would not compromise, and early yesterday both houses met and voted to give the sailors what they wanted and guarantee them immunity from punishment.

Thursday night the Sao Paulo and the Bahia withdrew from the harbor, supposedly because they feared a night attack from the loyal torpedo boat destroyers. The Minas Geraes, however, remained opposite the government palace and were joined by the cruiser Deodoro.

For several hours everything was quiet. Then watchers on shore noted activity on board the Deodoro. The hour following midnight passed anxiously. Then the small guns of the Deodoro awoke the town. It was at first thought that the revolting vessels were making a combined attack upon the city.

For a time a panicky feeling was general. Then it was discovered that the firing was confined to the scout and was directed only at the naval arsenal. The cannonading did not last long and no great damage was done. The local garrisons and the loyal torpedo boats did not respond, although according to yesterday's papers, their officers had received similar orders as to their duty in certain contingencies.

When the Deodoro had ceased firing she put to sea, accompanied by the Minas Geraes.

Morning broke with the mutinous craft still outside the harbor and they did not return to port until some hours later.

Congress met in extraordinary session yesterday. The chamber of deputies first concurred with the senate in granting amnesty to the mutineers. Both houses then passed resolutions conceding the demands of the sailors.

As soon as the action of congress became known the mutinous crews surrendered and the revolt was at an end. The city was soon quiet and resuming its normal activities.

A WOMAN'S PLACE

Is in the House, Says
Cardinal Gibbons

BALTIMORE, Nov. 26.—"Avoid following those who desire woman suffrage," advised Cardinal Gibbons in a talk yesterday to the students of St. Catherine's normal institute, where he was the guest of honor at the celebration of the feast of St. Catherine.

"Do not follow in the steps of those," he continued, "who have become man-nish in their ways and who fight for a place in politics. The place for the woman is in the home, and I trust you will strive to do your best now. By doing so each of you will bring joy to your relatives and friends and in the future to the young man whom you may call your husband."

MUST BE SECRET

Corporation Treas. Returns to be Protected

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—Secrets of corporations and the intimate details of their business are to be safeguarded by the government under the law passed by the last session of congress providing for the filing of returns with the treasury department for the purpose of assessing federal taxes. The question of such returns has been declared of vital importance to the big business interests. Their fears were set at rest yesterday when Secretary of the Treasury MacVough announced a ruling which bars from perusal of the reports the idly curious or those who might benefit unfairly by the study of them.

In the first place Mr. MacVough decrees that the records of the corporations filed with the department shall be kept under guard in the department itself and that no outside agent of the department, under any circumstance, shall divulge the contents of the report.

50 GIRLS TRAPPED

In the Fourth Floor of Burning Building at Newark

Many Jumped From Windows and Were Killed—23 Bodies Lying on Sidewalk at One Time—Fire Was Caused by an Explosion

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 26.—In a disastrous factory fire here today fourteen are known to have been lost and forty or more persons were injured, some probably fatally. Nearly all the victims were young women workers at the manufacturing plants in the building, a four story structure, which took fire from an explosion on the third floor. Loss of life and injury were heaviest among the girls to the number of fifty, on the top floor, who were trapped by the rapidly spreading flames. Some of them jumped to safety in fire nets and others to their deaths or serious injuries on the pavements below.

There is an engine house next door to the factory but before the firemen could give any assistance at least twenty of the girls had leaped to the street. Most of the injured were taken to St. Michael's hospital, a block away.

200 Persons Employed
The building in which the disaster occurred is a four-story structure. The first and second floors were occupied by the Newark Paperbox Co. The third floor was occupied by the Aetna Electric Co., makers of lamps. The fourth floor was used as a factory by Louis Wolf, manufacturers of undergarments.

It is believed that the fire started on the second floor, in the rear, among a lot of rubbish. Soon after it started it made its way into a lot of waste paper from which it connected to the upper floors.

In all about 200 persons were employed in the building.

Leaped From Windows
Miss Jennie Gill, who was employed by Wolf, said she was in a room on the fourth floor with Miss Anna Hague, the forewoman, Miss Anna Smith and Miss Augusta Ebert. Miss Hague discovered smoke and ran to a window. Panic-stricken, she returned to the sill and plunged into space. Miss Gill was the first to look her example when the firemen raised a ladder and brought her down.

The ambulances from the city hospital and the patrol wagons from all the precincts were dispatched to the scene. An immense crowd kept the police busy.

Fifteen Jumped Four Stories
One of the spectators said that at least fifteen girls had jumped from the fourth floor of the burning structure.

With the exception of two girls employed by the Aetna company, all the employees on the first and second floors of the building escaped by means of the exits or the one fire escape.

The two girls sustained burns about the head and face. Twenty of the injured were taken to St. Michael's hospital in the ambulance. Of these, two died after reaching the hospital. It was impossible to obtain the names of the victims in the great confusion that prevailed.

Life Nets Saved Many
Life nets were put into use immediately after the arrival of the firemen. Perhaps thirty lives were saved this way. One girl, Hattie Delaney, was badly hurt by striking the edge of the net and falling to the pavement. Another girl sustained a broken ankle.

Eugene McLaughlin, a fireman in the employ of the Aetna company, guided forty or fifty girls in his charge to safety down a fire escape without injury.

Less than 20 minutes after the arrival of the firemen the interior of the building was a mass of flames. The floors of the upper part of the building were short of escape.

The Army lost 5 yards for offside. The ball was in the Navy's possession on the Army's 30 yard line. Clay dashed into center for 4 yards. Rhodes failed to gain and again Dalton prepared to try for a goal from placement from the 30 yard line. Before this could be done a forward pass was made, an Army getting the ball. Browne failed to gain and Dalton kicked out of bounds at midfield.

The game ended with the ball in the Navy's possession in midfield.

A $20,000 FIRE

CAUSED EXCITEMENT IN BROCKTON TODAY

BROCKTON, Nov. 26.—Considerable excitement was caused today in the heart of the shoe manufacturing district in this city when a wooden building on Main street, occupied by a blacksmith shop, carriage painting establishment and store room for carriages, was destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at $20,000, with partial insurance.

A large wooden factory of the Churchill & Alden Shoe Co. is separated from the burned building by only three feet, but sprinklers on the outside of the factory building saved it. Numbering about 700, were ordered to leave the building while the fire was in progress, which they did without disorder. The burned building was owned by James C. Keith, a horse trader, who occupied the store room. Thomas McLaughlin occupied the blacksmith shop, and George B. Sears, the carriage painting shop.

DEBATE OVER KAISER'S SPEECH

BERLIN, Nov. 26.—The reichstag was occupied today with discussion of a speech of Emperor William at a provincial dinner at Koenigsburg on August 26 during his tour of eastern Germany. The varied and conflicting sentiments aroused by his remarkable utterance, intimating a continued belief in the divine right of kings, were given full play.

The debate, participated in by Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg and the leaders of all parties, was bitter throughout.

In his Koenigsburg speech the emperor, after saying that his grandfather had been in himself the chosen instrument of Heaven and so proclaimed that the Prussian crown was bestowed on him by God's grace alone, intimated that the convictions of Emperor William I. and his own were identical and added:

"Considering myself as the instrument of the Master, regardless of passing views and opinions, I go my way, which is solely devoted to the prosperity and peaceful development of our Fatherland."

Herr Ledebour, socialist, supported the socialist interpellation, inquiring what the chancellor thought of the emperor having departed from his declarations made in November, 1908, through Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg.

Following the emperor's famous interview two years ago, his majesty approved a statement in the reichstag by the chancellor, who expressed "the reverential wish that greater reserve be displayed in future in making such utterances."

Herr Ledebour demanded that the emperor should not interfere in the affairs of the state contrary to the provisions of the constitution and declared that "the king-emperor cannot attempt to rule against the opinion of the people. Either he must put aside his personal opinion or the monarchical system will be eliminated."

Replying, Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg defended the emperor and asserted that the socialist interpellation was inspired by a republican sentiment rather than by anxiety for the integrity of the state.

The chancellor denied that the Koenigsburg speech constituted a breach of any promise that his majesty had made in 1908.

CHANGE OF VENUE J. AVISON BAKER

Refused by Court in Bandit Case Retires as Leader of the First Baptist Choir

GREENFIELD, Nov. 26.—Chief Justice Aiken of the Massachusetts superior court overruled today a motion for a change of venue filed by William A. Davenport, of counsel for S. N. Phelps, the "Monroe Bridge outlaw," whose trial for the murder of Deputy Sheriff Emil F. Haskins opens here on Monday next. Mr. Davenport argued that public opinion was against Phelps to such an extent that the prisoner could not obtain a fair and impartial trial.

District Attorney Richard W. Irwin declared that Phelps would be given a fair trial and would be protected in every way.

Phelps is alleged to have shot and killed Haskins when the deputy sheriff attempted to arrest him on June 11, at his home on the mountain at Monroe, for assaulting and stabbing W. N. Denman, superintendent of a paper mill at Monroe Bridge, where Phelps worked. After the alleged murder Phelps fled to the woods. He caused a reign of terror for several days among the people of the surrounding country but finally, weak from hunger and thirst, he was easily captured.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—A sudden change in the overnight betting has made Owen Moran an 8 to 10 favorite over Battling Nelson for the fight this afternoon in Crockett arena here. Wagering on the contest all along has been at even money and the unexpected shift of odds has caused the light fans to engage in much speculation over the eleventh hour turn of sentiment. Betting Commissioner Tom Corbett says a belated rush of Moran money was the cause.

Today's fight is looked on as an elimination contest for a chance to challenge for the lightweight championship. It will be a 20 round bout and Ben Selig will referee.

FATAL DOSE

MRS. DORA ROY TOOK OVERDOSE OF WINTERGREEN

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Nov. 26.—An overdose of oil of wintergreen resulted fatally to Mrs. Dora B. Roy of this city today. Mrs. Roy had been feeling indisposed and someone recommended the aromatic. She is 37 years old and leaves a husband, Joseph Roy, a mill worker.

Temporary Heat quickly

Did you ever stop to think of the many ways in which a perfect oil heater is of value? If you want to sleep with your window open in winter, you can get sufficient heat from an oil heater while you undress at night, and then turn it off. Apply a match in the morning, when you get out of bed, and you have heat while you dress.

Those who have to eat an early breakfast before the stove is radiating heat can get immediate warmth from an oil heater, and then turn it off.

The girl who practices on the piano in a cold room in the morning can have warmth from an oil heater while she plays, and then turn it off.

The member of the family who has to walk the floor on a cold winter's night with a restless baby can get temporary heat with an oil heater, and then turn it off. The

THE FINAL SETTLEMENT

This afternoon and evening "The Final Settlement," a society play with many thrilling climaxes, will be presented. This play is one of the best presented at popular prices this season. Tonight is the last opportunity to see it.

An evening of hilarity will be ushered in at the Opera House next Monday night when Lew Dockstader and his "20th Century Minstrels," under the management of the Messrs. Shubert come here in their latest creation of black face comedy.

Lew Dockstader scarcely needs an introduction to this or any other community. He stands alone as a minstrel entertainer, and is about the only man left who has a real minstrel show. There are other burnt cork organizations chasing the mighty dollar, but Dockstader and his associates are the only minstrel performers who got into the first class theatres. Dockstader has long since established himself as a pre-eminent entertainer. He has a true sense of humor, and a brand of satire that is keen, but yet kindly. He is always funny, and at times truly artistic, but though his name appears in big letters on the billboards, he does not try to make himself the whole show, but has surrounded himself with other comedians of reputation and genuine merit as fun makers. He has a corps of vocal soloists who are probably the best ballad singers to be obtained for this style of entertainment. There are dancers galore, and an orchestra of twenty-one instruments. The entertainment this season has been declared in other cities to be the best that Dockstader has ever offered. It is enhanced by an unusual variety of features, quite unequalled by any minstrel program heretofore presented. There is always fun in plenty at a Dockstader show, and it is all presented with a quality of elegance and utter absence of anything coarse.

KLARK-URBAN COMPANY

The Klark-Urban company with its repertoire of New York successes, competent artists, both dramatic and vaudeville, special scenery, effects and costumes will open a three nights' and two matinee engagement at the Lowell Opera House next Thursday evening presenting the comedy drama, "His Last Dollar," with "The Girl from Out Yonder," "One Girl in a Thousand," "The Fatal Scar," and "Sold to Slavery" to follow. Each play will be produced with special scenery, and the following vaudeville artists will appear at every performance. Fred Bollinger, aerial artist; A. L. Tenny, comedy juggler; Robetta and Edith, bounding rope and slack wire; Marion Allen, acrobatic dancer; Mario Hodgkins, vocalist; Grace Leith, the funny old maid, and the four monarchs of music, Klark-Urban and Schreiber Brothers.

"THE STAMPEDE"

The Syracuse Post-Standard of October 21st, says of "The Stampede," which comes to the Opera House on Tuesday and Wednesday with a bargain matinee Wednesday:

With situations the reverse of those in "Strongheart," "The Stampede," in the composition of which Cecil De Mille, who wrote the former play, collaborated with Lillian Buckingham, opened a three days engagement at the Bastable theatre yesterday afternoon and was well received by two large audiences.

In "Strongheart" the hero was an Indian who sacrificed the white girl he loved for the sake of his own people. Wanga, the principal character in "The Stampede," is a half-breed who is called upon to choose between happiness with her white lover and the interests of the tribe of Indians to which her mother belongs. She does her duty, and, unlike "Strongheart," happiness comes to her in the end.

"The Stampede" is not as striking as "Strongheart," but it is more melodramatic. It tells a story that enlists and holds attention. It is elaborately staged with pretty lighting effects. Miss Lillian Buckingham is dignified and impressive in the leading role.

"THE CHOCOLATE SOLDIER"

The close surveillance of F. C. Whitney, who controls the American and English rights to "The Chocolate Soldier" coming to the Opera House on Dec. 9 and 10, and the firm of Kienick which publishes the music, has brought to light forty-two music pirates who were attempting to use the Strauss music for their own gain. Unlike certain other offerings from Vienna that have come to England and America in the last few years, "The Chocolate Soldier" was well protected by Mr. Whitney in both this country and Great Britain, where the opera was produced with tremendous success a few weeks ago. Mr. Whitney has been able to obtain permanent injunctions against imitators.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

The Hathaway theatre has set such a high standard for itself during the present season that it is becoming increasingly difficult for the management to equal, much less outdo, the quality of the performances that have gone before. Nevertheless, this has been accomplished in the bill scheduled for next week. At the head and front of a brilliant bill are Valerie Bergere and her company with "His Japanese Wife," vaudeville's classiest and most beautiful one-act playlet. Everyone who has even a bowing acquaintance with things theatrical knows of the fame which Miss Bergere enjoys in the dramatic world.

Knox and Alvin, a man and a woman, are a duo who are more than ordinarily diverting in their originality and cleverness. Their comedy is light, bright and sparkling, and their songs up-to-date and well sung.

Anita, Dismond her trained Simians give a performance that will be a delight to the ladies and children. There are eight or ten of the "monks" in the troupe, and so well trained are they that an intelligence well-versed in human is apparent in their exhibition.

Carl Randall, "The American Laddie Club," is startling in his resemblance to the famous English juvenile whom he impersonates.

McPhue and Hill are a howl of hilarity in their comedy burlesque. The stunts they perform are difficult, but this is the theatrical lost sight of in the ridiculous gyrations and comedy jumps with which they embellish their acts.

Lillian Levier is a winsome comedienne, possessed of both vocal talent and a captivating style, and she is certain to make many friends among the theatre patrons during the week.

Robinson and Le Bever, comedy acrobats and original barrel jumpers, provide a whole budget of fun by their odd antics.

As usual, the show closes with a series of the newest and best in moving picture views.

THEATRE VOYONS

The pictures of the Portuguese capital, Lisbon, during the recent revolution, shown today at the Theatre Voy-

ons, are exceptionally good from every standpoint. They show hundreds of interesting things about the city in its strenuous days, and to the man who keeps up to date on the affairs of the world this picture is invaluable. The photography is remarkably good and much of the picture has enough historical interest to make its preservation as a matter of historical record an assured fact. Tomorrow, Sunday, an unusually good program will be given, and those who do not attend will miss one of the finest shows of the season. On Monday the feature picture will be a real novelty, being taken in Ireland, and showing genuine Irish scenes besides telling a very pretty romance of Erin's Isle.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Sunday night at the Merrimack Square theatre, there will be another of those big concert programs, with two performances, at 7 and 9 o'clock respectively. Seats are on sale now, as a matter of fact.

But to the concert. It is the best and biggest bill yet given at a concert at this popular playhouse, which of course means that it is the best yet to be presented in the city. There are to be eight big headline acts, with thousands of feet of the newest and best moving picture films. That is no exaggeration either.

On the Sunday night bill, for instance, there are Hendricks and Wright, Gene King, Brooks and Vetta, Kenney and Hollis, and two old favorites, Miss Nina Espy, the banjo girl, and LaFoye and Toohey. That is a bill that ought to suit everybody. The moving picture films will be brand new and never before shown here.

Next week there is another splendid bill on schedule also. This week the attendance at the performances, especially on Thanksgiving day, broke all records for the city, and the management, in keeping with its avowed policy of giving the best shows for the least money, is not forgetful of past stints that patrons will find what they desire in the amusement line at the Merrimack Square; hence, the excellence of next week's bill.

Mrs. Tom Thumb will be there. Mrs. Tom Thumb is without question the most famous midget in the world and in spite of her years, which are ready beyond those most of us ever reach, she is as sprightly as a girl. She will appear surrounded by an unusual company of midgets not one of whom is any larger than her small self. The act will appeal to the old folks who remember her from other days, as much as it is sure to to the young people.

Another big act is "Hornum's Six Imperial Dancers," one of the finest acts of its kind in the vaudeville stage. The company includes three girls who can sing and dance much better than most, and three agile and graceful young men. It is elaborately staged, with unusual electrical effects, and is bound to be a sure-fire hit.

Other choice bits on the bill are Lawton the juggler; Eloya and Russell, a couple of original and amusing colored comedians, and The Rosses, the delightful singers who have been retained for another week by special request.

The suggestion of many patrons of the theatre, the management has decided to reserve a few seats in the balcony of the theatre, at 15 cents, including the price of admission, in addition to the orchestra reserved seats at 25 cents. There are also over 1000 free seats at the admission price. These reserved seats may be purchased one week in advance.

The new order goes into effect at Monday night's performances.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Last night was a great night with the amateurs and they were greeted with a crowd of house and their acts and the regular bill it certainly was a big show for a time. There is to be a change in the future as to amateur night. By request at the box office the management has been requested to change back to Wednesday evening. The request has been granted so that Wednesday instead of Friday evening will be known as amateur night. If you want to enjoy a good laugh, go and see the Showmaker. It is one of the funniest of comedy acts on the stage today. This is the last chance to see the show, but next Monday we will have a delegation of gentlemen from Coon-town and there are just an even dozen of them. They are great funmakers. With them there are several other good acts and the pictures. You are sure to get your money's worth. Remember the sacred concert Sunday afternoon and evening.

COLONIAL THEATRE

Performances at the Colonial Theatre, at Old Fellows' building, Mill street, have been all that could be wished for. The acts are all excellent and Sachs and Vailin have had every audience in a roar. Both Mr. Sachs and Miss Vailin are decidedly clever in their comedy sketch and have proven great favorites.

Three Grand Sacred Concerts have been arranged for Sunday afternoon and evening and a special effort will be made to improve upon anything ever given before.

PRES. GOMPERS

To Decide the Western Charter Dispute

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 26.—The question of whether the Western Federation of Miners shall be granted a charter by the American Federation of Labor was placed before President Gompers last night by the convention on a point of the federation law raised by President James O'Connell of the International Association of Machinists.

President O'Connell, who is leading the fight against the proposition to grant an unrestricted charter to the western miners said the constitution of the federation provided in cases where charters were applied for in which a question of jurisdiction came up, the written consent of the chief officials of all other organizations involved had to be obtained first.

President Gompers was unprepared to act before adjournment was taken. Whether the controversy will be reopened depends whether Gompers renounces his decision. In response to demands that this decision be made today, he said as soon as he had arrived at an opinion he would state it. Labor leaders said last night that he holds the key to the situation.

O'Connell said that if the charter without restrictions was granted by the convention, his organization would withdraw from the federation.

The report of the question of the president's report, which was adopted, directs that state federations in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Alabama introduce bills before the state legislatures, providing for investigation of charges that the U. S. Steel corporation is importing criminal labor from Europe; that a committee of five be appointed by President Gompers to organize the departments of the federation and that there be more direct affiliation with Porto Rico's organized labor. The report adversely criticizes the mounted constabulary of Western Pennsylvania, urging the introduction of a bill to repeal the law which authorizes them.

The convention adopted a resolution providing for a memorial to congress, urging the exclusion of Asiatic laborers.

ATE SOME POISON

500 Grains Required to Kill Elephant

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—It took 500 grains of cyanide of potassium, a deadly poison, to kill the Gypsy Queen, a trick elephant, yesterday, in execution of the death sentence passed on her for the murder of her keeper, Robert Seidel, on Oct. 20, last.

Less than one grain is ordinarily fatal to man and the first conclusive symptoms supervene almost before the victim can set down the glass from which he swallowed.

But the Queen swayed backward and forward, flapping her big ears, for 10 minutes, before she showed the least uneasiness, and it was 44 minutes before she was pronounced dead.

Poison in Bran

The poison was given her in three handfuls of bran mash in which had been sprinkled 100 capsules, each of five grains of cyanide. She had been starved for 24 hours and ate greedily. At the end of 10 minutes she shivered in all her vast bulk of 7850 pounds, her knees weakened, her trunk grew rigid, she rolled her eyes and fell.

In the next two minutes she got up four times, struggling against the chains that bound her. At the end of 20 minutes her breathing was imperceptible, but 44 minutes after her first swallow, she winked when her trainer passed his hand before her eyes. That was the last sign of life.

The Queen was 37 years old, born in Africa, and one of the largest elephants in captivity; she stood eight feet seven inches high. Of recent years her temper had not improved and last October she picked up an unaccustomed keeper, who had been warned not to go near her, slammed him against the wall of her cell, and then trod him into pulp. A few days ago she grabbed at another keeper, but he kept cautiously out of reach.

Nevertheless, her trainer never lost faith in her. To prove her docility he took her out yesterday, a few minutes before her execution and led her through her tricks and she responded to orders with old time enthusiasm.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1909 was 16,828

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martha H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1910.

J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

According to the census returns, ward six is nearly twice as big as any other two wards and will stand partition when the time comes for another gerrymander.

The historical sketch of the Colburn school in another column is well worth reading. It will be especially interesting to the graduates of that school.

Mr. Jesse D. Crook very generously offers the free use of Hamilton hall to the charter committee for a public meeting. Such public spirit is commendable. Mr. Crook evidently realizes how much we need a new charter.

Miss Leneva is still in England and in view of her frequent visits to Dr. Crippen after his sentence and her alleged attempts to merchandise his confession, public opinion in regard to her has changed very much, at least in this country.

RUEF MUST SERVE SENTENCE

Grafter Ruef, the San Francisco boss, has failed to have the sentence of the lower court set aside or even modified. He will, therefore, have to serve fourteen years in prison.

Ruef placed some large amounts to carry a scheme for keeping the price of gas at 85 cents instead of 75 cents, and he paid eight supervisors of an independent telephone company the sum of $3500 each for voting for its franchise. The conviction of Ruef will be a lesson to others who have been in the same business in different parts of the country.

THE CONTAGIOUS HOSPITAL

The Charity and Health Boards are to be commended for urging upon the city council with such force the necessity of a contagious hospital. The appropriations committee deserves credit also for its prompt action in recommending enough to start the work of drawing plans for a $50,000 hospital.

When any infectious disease breaks out in a congested district the only effective way to prevent its spread is to remove the patient to a place where he or she can be effectually isolated. For that purpose a hospital is needed in which there will be several separate apartments so that the patients suffering from one disease will not be exposed to the contagion of another.

The quarantine rules of the health board are very difficult of enforcement as people who have relatives sick will take dangerous chances. At present the Lowell hospital is the only one that has a contagious ward. The lack of proper accommodations for isolation which would be provided in such a hospital costs the city many lives in the course of a year.

From the homes these diseases are brought to the schools and thus widely spread, whereas by timely removal to a hospital the spread of the disease from the first case would be impossible.

Of course not all cases of contagious diseases would be sent to such a hospital. Where families can take proper care of such a case at home and where they can be relied upon to comply with the rules of the health department, there is not so much cause for a hospital, but where people live in close quarters and where all rules are sure to be violated the isolation afforded by the hospital is the only safeguard of the community.

CONSERVATIVE ACTION AND OFFICIAL HORN-BLOWING

Now that the municipal campaign is at hand, it may be in order to remark that Mayor Meehan has given the city a clean, progressive yet conservative administration of its affairs without making much noise or disturbance. It should be remembered also that he is opposed to the horn-blowing method adopted by some officials who employ skilled press agents to keep their names continually before the public in the most favorable light. This is on a par with the methods of the prominent actors who have their press agents to boom them, not only whenever they do anything but when in reality they do nothing.

The notoriety seekers enter public office and instead of attending to the city's business in a quiet and dignified manner, they devote practically their entire time to the game of political horn-blowing. That is a new method of bluffing the public; but it has been done in Lowell and other cities and is quite successful in its purpose which is to delude the public.

Mayor Meehan is not one of the horn-blowing officials. He believes in the modest conservative policy followed by the old style mayors, such as Fifield, Pickman, Abbott, Greenhalge, who never wished to cackle through the press whenever they performed an ordinary act of official duty. It is beneath the dignity of any honest official to employ a man for the purpose of keeping his name before the public. The fact that he does so is a sign of weakness, because it often happens that the official horn-blowers diverge very far from the truth and impose upon the newspapers as well as the public.

For this reason the public should not imagine that Mayor Meehan has been forgetful of the city's business because he did not employ a press agent. Neither does Mayor Meehan believe in continual and unnecessary turmoil and disturbance. In common with a majority of our citizens he believes an honest and conservative policy that keeps the city abreast of the times is what the citizens want. He believes that the official wrangling for possession of public offices and the opera bouffe style of administration though approved by some only serve to injure the reputation of the city.

The voters should look into this matter carefully in order to reach a right conclusion as to whether Mayor Meehan should be blamed because he has refused to seek notoriety by sensational methods that serve only to excite the community and injure the reputation of our city.

SHOT HIS WIFE JOSEPH P. SWIFT

Young Husband Arrested for Murder

WELLSBORO, Pa., Nov. 26.—Leo Applebee, aged 23 years, was arrested yesterday, charged with the murder of his wife, Mazie, aged 32 years, whose body was discovered Thursday. The side of the woman's head had been blown off with a shotgun. Applebee told his neighbors Thursday night that he discovered his wife lying dead in the kitchen when he returned home. When neighbors entered the house they found the woman's body on the floor, while her infant was playing nearby. Applebee was notified and after making an investigation determined to have Applebee to answer for his wife's death.

Of Dracut Died at Los Angeles

Joseph P. Swift, of the Dracut Navy Yard who was well and favorably known in this city, died yesterday in Los Angeles, California. Owing to his popularity the news of his death will come as a shock to his many friends. Last March he went to Seattle, Wash., in order to recuperate and about six weeks ago removed to Los Angeles.

The deceased was formerly manager of the Ketchup A. C. baseball team, which made a good record among the semi-professional teams of Lowell and surrounding towns, and the good standing of the team reflects much credit upon its director, while the latter enjoyed the good will of his players and the friendship of his opponents.

The deceased for a time was employed as a clerk in the fruit store of C. T. Kilpatrick at Merrimack square, and in that capacity he made many new friends and acquaintances.

He is survived by a father, Joseph, and three brothers, Francis, Christopher and James, the latter of Seattle, Wash. The burial will take place at the latter place.

HATTIE LEBLANC

Broke Down For First Time in Jail

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 26.—Hattie LeBlanc broke down yesterday for the first time since her arrest on the charge of murdering Clarence F. Glover in Waltham a year ago, and begged her 74-year-old father, Abram LeBlanc, whom she saw for the first time in two years, to take her away with him to their home in West Attchut in Cape Breton, where her mother lies seriously ill.

Last night it was reported that Hattie was much depressed, and her friends believe that the long strain resulting from her detention in jail is having its effect, and the girl is breaking down as the hour of her trial approaches.

Yesterday was the first time that the young girl, whose ordeal will begin on Monday, has seemed to feel the seriousness of her plight and to realize that her life may be the penalty for the mysterious murder in the Waltham laundry which startled the community last November.

Begged to Be Taken Home

"She broke down and wept when she saw me," said the aged father last night, when he was seen at the home of another daughter in Gloucester. "Then she became hysterical and begged me to take her with me, when I told her how ill her mother was at home."

It is not true that she does not realize the importance of the trial that is coming. She told me that lately she had worked every minute of the day to drive the thought of the days that are coming out of her mind. She believes that she will go free. I have told her that I will be at the court house every day, and at the end of it all she hopes that she will be allowed to go back to her old home to bring comfort to her mother."

Abram LeBlanc came to Gloucester a few days ago, and will remain there with his daughter, Miss LeBlanc, the girl whose trial starts Monday, until a jury has decided his daughter's fate. With a grandson on his knee who could not understand why the aged man cried, the girl's father asked about his visit to the jail.

Finds Girl Has Become Woman

"It was a sad trial to me," he said, "to see the daughter who had been so well and so happy only two years ago confined in a cell and to realize that she had been shut up there for a year. She has grown to me like a girl until I saw her today, but she has altered in the two years that have passed since I saw her last. She is a woman now."

"I have sailed on ships into ports all over the world and I have passed through days and nights when I never expected to be alive the next day, but never had such a bitter experience before as I did today."

"It seemed so dreadful to me that I didn't like to talk to Hattie about her trial and about the crime that she is charged with. I kept away from her just except to cheer her up by telling her that I believed that she would soon be free and that then she and I and Lillian could all go back together to Arichat and be happy again.

NOT A PARTICLE OF CLEAR SKIN

On Baby's Face, Head and Shoulders. Parents Decided He Could Not be Cured. Cuticura Remedies Made His Skin Perfectly Clear.

Our boy was born in Toronto on Oct. 13, 1903, and when three months old a slight rash appeared on his cheek. What appeared to be a water blister would form. When it broke, matter would run out, starting new blisters until his entire face, head and shoulders were a mass of scabs and you could not see a particle of clear skin. Other parts of his body were affected, but not to such an extent. We did not know what to do for him and tried about every advertised remedy without avail, indeed some of them only added to his suffering and one in particular, the ——— Remedy, almost put the infant into convulsions. The family doctor prescribed for him and told us to bathe the baby in buttermilk. This did not do any good, so we took him to a hospital. He was treated as an out-patient twice a week and he got worse, if anything. We then called in another doctor and inside of a week the boy was, to all appearances, cured and the doctor said his work was done. But the very next day it broke out as bad as ever.

We decided that it could not be cured and must run its course and so we just kept his arms bandaged to his side to prevent his tearing his flesh. We left Toronto and shortly after our arrival in Duluth, the Cuticura Remedies were recommended. We started using them in May, 1909, and soon the cure was complete. At the time of writing you would not think he was the same child for Cuticura made his skin perfectly clear and he is entirely free from the skin disease. There has been no return this time. We still use only Cuticura Soap for baby's bath.

REARDON RETURNS

Somerville Man Had Been Missing Six Months

Disappeared on Eve of Wedding and Police of Two Countries Were Unable to Trace Him—His Re-Appearance Also Mysterious

BOSTON, Nov. 26.—Alfred A. Reardon, 27 years old, of 3 Hancock street, Somerville, who mysteriously disappeared on April 15, 13 days prior to the day of his intended marriage to Miss Etta Hasson of 32 Newman street, South Boston, returned to his father's house on Thanksgiving day morning.

The case, however, remains involved in as much mystery as before because the explanation given by his family of his absence is at variance with the facts as reported upon his disappearance. Since his return he has been kept in seclusion and reporters have not been allowed to see him.

Reardon is the son of J. Warren Reardon, a dealer in rubber goods at 3 Tremont row, and worked for him as a traveling salesman prior to his disappearance.

The case has been an international mystery, and the state departments of the United States and Great Britain have taken part in the investigation.

There have been reports of kidnapping, robbery and murder and other suggestions as to the cause of the absence of the young man. At one time it was thought he had turned up in London, suffering from a lapse of memory and laboring under the delusion that he was J. E. Drexel, a member of the Philadelphia family of millionaires.

But this man was neither Drexel nor Reardon.

The police departments and great detectives of the world have diligently sought the missing young man, while his father and mother feared he was murdered.

Disappeared From New York

"Al" Reardon was a romantic youth even when he was a lad about a Boston newspaper office, but he was always so genial and ready with witty repartee that he was exceedingly popular. He was successful as a rubber goods salesman for his father.

His wooing of Miss Hasson was watched with interest by his friends, for it was generally admitted that they were a happy couple, well matched.

Young Reardon furnished a cozy flat in Somerville and Miss Hasson had her wedding gowns completed.

Then Reardon started for New York city to attend an installation of officers of a lodge of a secret society of which he is a prominent member. He attended the exercises on the evening of April 15 and he was not seen again after he left the lodge room for his hotel until Thanksgiving day morning, when he appeared at the door of his father's house and fell into his mother's arms and wept.

When he disappeared he was well dressed, had about $100 in cash with him, a gold watch and chain and a large diamond set in a ring worn on a finger of his left hand.

Police Search Begun

When he did not return home on the appointed day his family was disturbed, but when he failed to arrive in time for his marriage to Miss Hasson there was great consternation and the marriage invitations were recalled with apprehension for it seemed as if nothing short of a terrible accident or death could keep "Al" Reardon from his own wedding.

Then the police were appealed to. Deputy Supt. William B. Walls of the Boston bureau of criminal investigation sent out the word to the police of the world and the search was begun in earnest.

J. Warren Reardon, father of the boy, made a personal investigation. He went to New York and the police there made an investigation on the theory that the young man had possibly been assaulted, robbed and murdered and his body thrown into the East river.

On July 31 a young man was found wandering, in a state of mental collapse, along the banks of the Thames river in London. His general description answered that of Reardon. He told a weird story of having been drugged, brought to London and then drugged again. He also said he had escaped and wandered about the streets until he was found. He claimed he was J. E. Drexel, a member of the Philadelphia family of millionaires.

THE SHEDD SKATING PARK.

The skating park as laid out by the park department, and indicated on the above diagram will have an area of about three and a half acres. It will be easy of access from Rogers street, a short distance beyond the Shedd gate.

Supt. Whittet of the park department is throwing up a number of trenches at points where the water might escape from the main park. The area has been cleared of brush and all the holes will be filled so that there will be no danger on account of depth at any point. The area to be covered with water should accommodate 500 skaters at one time without any crowding. It will be a very popular feature and lighting arrangements will be made so that it can be used at night as well as in the day time.

HORSE DROWNED

Double Team Backed Into Merrimack River

A double team employed on the state highway job below Boile Grove, in backing up to the edge of the embankment on the riverside, backed too far and the weight of the wagon and its contents carried the two horses over the embankment into the river. Workmen rushed to the assistance of the animals and by releasing the harnesses succeeded in rescuing one, but the other was drowned.

Mr. John J. Healey, manager of "Mitchell the Tailor" establishment, is measuring clothes with an imperishable smile on his countenance today, and the cause thereof is a baby boy, who dawned upon the happy household this morning.

NO TRACE OF GOODWIN

DANVERS, Nov. 26.—An all-night search by the police of Danvers and neighboring cities and towns brought forth no trace of Chester Goodwin, who is alleged to have shot and killed Bertram W. Galloway, the friend with whom he boarded, during a quarrel last night. Arthur G. Wells, a member of the Massachusetts district police, came here today to assist Chief Joseph Merrill of the local police force in the search for the alleged murderer. It is generally believed that Goodwin committed suicide after killing Galloway. Porters river, a small branch of the sea that runs up to Danversport, flows in the rear of the Galloway house, where last night's tragedy occurred, and the police think that as soon as he realized that he had killed his friend, Goodwin drowned himself. Because of the strong tide the dragging of the river was considered impracticable and a search of the river was planned for this afternoon, when the tide will be low.

VESSELS RETURN TO HARBOR

RIO JANEIRO, Nov. 26.—The multi-masted vessels of the Brazilian navy, which put to sea yesterday to await positive assurance of the government's good faith in granting their demands for naval reforms and full amnesty, spent the night outside the bar, returning to the harbor this morning. The warships were still flying the red flag, but the crews made it known that they would be turned over to the authorities according to the terms of surrender agreed on at noon. Now commanding officers have been appointed by the mutineers.

NO MORE DELAYS

Merrimack St. Paving Job Finished

The smooth paving job in Merrimack street from the railroad crossing at Dutton street to Tilden street received the finishing touches today. When the job started the superintendent of streets feared that winter would set in before the job was finished, but despite the fact that he was considerably inconvenienced because of delay in the arrival of the stone blocks the job was finished in good season.

There were two good reasons why the job was pushed through in quick order. The first good reason was because the weather was favorable, exceptionally so for this time of year, and the second reason was that the "gang" pulled together and worked with all their might. It was said today that they were as good, and faithful a crowd of men as ever worked on a city job. John Bowers was the boss and the men were with him every minute. It is generally conceded that there isn't a man in the country who knows the paving job better than John Bowers and he knows how to have a man do his best work without ruffling his feathers.

Not a man quit the job from the time it started till it finished and when Mr. Bowers asked them if they wanted to work on Thanksgiving day they said they did; that they wanted to finish the job while the weather was good. They worked every Sunday and every man in the gang was on the job every minute.

There is a little grading to be done in front of the Yoric club in Dutton street and about 40 feet of paving will be relaid in Moody street in order to make it approach to the new paving as moderate as possible.

A BOLD ROBBERY

Malden Man Held Up by Thugs

MALDEN, Nov. 26.—Amory M. Cobb of 60 Glen avenue was assaulted and robbed by two young men about 9 o'clock last night in Summer street. The robbery was one of the boldest reported to the police of the city in some time, and the thieves got $200 cash and Mr. Cobb's gold watch, which he values at $150.

Mr. Cobb was in Boston yesterday afternoon and went to a restaurant for lunch, where he became acquainted with the two young men, who sat at the same table with him. They were well dressed and sociable and they discussed a number of subjects before they left the restaurant. They went to a saloon in Court street, where they had a drink or two, and while he was paying for his drinks Mr. Cobb showed a large roll of bills.

The two strangers walked with Cobb to the North station and then the same train. They told him they were going to Wakefield but they left the train in this city and followed him through the streets a short distance behind.

As he was passing through Summer street they closed upon him in a lonely place and one of them struck him on the head with a bottle. The blow stunned him and before he could do anything to beat off his assailants one of them seized him by the arms and held him while the other searched his pockets and took his money and watch.

Cobb, when he recovered, returned to the railroad station and telephoned to the police station. He was unable to give much of a description of the thieves. They were young men, he said, about 21 or 22 years old, well dressed and smooth shaven.

A BIG SEIZURE

Inspectors Get 443 Cans of Frozen Eggs

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Four hundred and forty-three cans of frozen eggs valued at $4000 were confiscated yesterday at the plant of the Merchants refrigerating company, Bay street, Jersey City, by U. S. Marshal Beckman and U. S. Food and Drug Inspector Lynde. The eggs were shipped from New York by the Seymour refrigerating company.

The food and drug inspectors announced yesterday that they will open an office in Jersey City and that a general crusade against unfit food product will be vigorously carried on.

THANKSGIVING PARTY

An After Thanksgiving party was held last evening by the Misses Nora and Clara Mahoney, Stasia Murray and Josephine Boylo for about fifty of their friends at the home of Mrs. Charles Richardson, and it proved to be a thoroughly enjoyable affair. During the evening an entertainment was given which included a song by Jack McCaffrey; recitation, "Rocks," Mr. Andrew Rourke; piano solo, Miss Julia McNulty; song, Mr. Jack Shea; recitation, "Who Stole Pinnegan's Panch Bowl?" Mr. Jack Casey; song, Mr. Anthony Doyle; piano solo, Miss Della Hourie; song by a quartet consisting of Messrs. Tainey, McCaffrey, Doyle and Shea; recitation, "When the first car starts for Broadway," Mr. Charles Provencher. Miss Della Rourke and Mr. Anthony Doyle were the accompanists.

After the entertainment dancing and games were enjoyed until late hour. Refreshments were served by Miss Murray and Miss Mahoney.

PROMPT ACTION

By City Council on the Appeal for Contagious Hospital

Charity and Health Boards Explained the Existing Necessity in Such forcible Terms That Appropriations Committee Voted $1000 to Have Plans Drawn for $50,000 Hospital—Sum of $60,000 Recommended for a New Pump for the Water Department

There were meetings galore at city hall last night and through the splendid efforts of the boards of charities and health the initial steps for a contagious hospital were taken. Mayor Meehan, who is deeply interested in the hospital matter, called special meetings of both boards and later there was a joint convention at which members of the boards of health and charities told of the urgent need for a contagious and infectious hospital. These two boards had asked for $50,000 for a hospital but were willing to take any part of that for a starter and so well and so convincingly did they argue that the committee on appropriations voted to recommend the sum of $1000 just to start the ball a-rolling. The committee also recommended the appointment of a commission of four men, and the mayor ex-officio, to act in the matter, the commission to be chosen by the city council.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN

HELD A PRELIMINARY MEETING BEFORE THE CONVENTION

Chairman Gray called to order at 8.37, and read the call for the special meeting and the joint communication from the boards of health and charities asking for $50,000 for a contagious hospital.

Ald. Connors moved that the matter be referred to the committee on appropriations and that the committee report its recommendations to the board directly after the meeting of the committee. The motion was not seconded.

Ald. Qua said he regretted very much that the matter of a contagious hospital had not come before the city council in a tangible form earlier in the year, and he suggested that inasmuch as both branches of the city council and both the board of health and board of charities were present that a joint convention be held in order that all members of the boards be given an opportunity to hear what the members of the boards of health and charities had to say. A recess was taken in order to allow Mr. Qua time to prepare the order. When the aldermen reconvened the joint communication was referred to the committee on appropriations and Mr. Qua's order for a joint convention was read and passed.

8.20, with 25 members present. The president read the call for the special meeting, and the joint communication from the boards of health and charities asking for $50,000 for a contagious and infectious hospital. The communication was referred to the committee on appropriations and the order for a joint convention was adopted in concurrence.

The city messenger notified the aldermen of the lower board's readiness for the convention and escorted the aldermen to the common council chamber, the members of the boards of health and charities preceding them.

JOINT CONVENTION

OF BOTH BOARDS HEARD NEEDS OF CONTAGIOUS HOSPITAL

Chairman Gray of the board of aldermen presided at the joint convention and called upon Dr. McCarty, chairman of the board of charities, for expression relative to the matter in hand.

Dr. McCarty told of the urgent need of a contagious and infectious hospital. "We have come here tonight," he said, "to instruct you what to do relative to this matter, a matter that has been too long neglected. The law says distinctly that all cities of 50,000 or more shall maintain a contagious hospital. There can be no doubt as to the need of such a hospital. Most of the cities in the commonwealth have a contagious hospital, and Lowell is behind in the matter."

The speaker recalled incidents in his career as a physician which had firmly convinced him that tuberculosis and other contagious diseases are positive menaces to public health, unless there is a detention hospital for those suffering from such diseases, where proper treatment may be given, and where quarantine may obtain. Life dwelt upon the modern treatment of tuberculosis, the open-air treatment, and spoke of those cases where, notwithstanding treatment, death invariably results.

Continuing, he said: "I sincerely hope that you will take prompt action in the matter and I undertake to say that in a legal and moral sense to delay the building of such a hospital is almost criminal."

"You want to remember that this is a very important matter, and think how criminally negligent it would be to further delay the erection of this hospital. You do not want victims of this dread disease riding on your street cars and going in and out of public places, and in order to prevent that we must have a place to care for the victims of the disease."

Dr. McCarty said he firmly believed that within a few years an antitoxin or some other preventive would be discovered for tuberculosis.

The other members of the board of health endorsed all their chairman, Dr. McCarty, had said.

Dr. Martin, chairman of the board of health, said he was heartily in sympathy with Dr. McCarty's remarks regarding the very great necessity of caring for the advanced cases of tuberculosis. He said it was not necessary to send all cases of tuberculosis to the hospital. Incipient cases can be cared for at home.

Dr. Martin said he doubted if the city council had a very slight idea of the number of contagious diseases which came into the city. He pointed out the attention of the board of health. Since January, 1909, cases have come under the observation of the board, divided as follows: Diphtheria, 125; scarlet fever, 270; typhoid fever, 174; membranous croup, 9; measles, 1193; meningitis, 6, and tuberculosis, 12. Doubtless there are many cases which never come to the attention of the board, and he believed that 4000 cases of contagious disease developed in the city during a year.

The speaker said that if we had a good, airy, comfortable hospital we could not only properly care for advanced cases, but we could prevent the spread of the disease. Very soon if an epidemic should arise we would find ourselves in a quandary as to what way to turn.

"The board of health," said Dr. Martin, "does not expect that the city council will take to appropriate $50,000 tonight. Before we can consistently ask you to appropriate money we will have to provide plans and have the proposition well in hand. We do not want you to borrow money and pay interest upon it until we are ready to spend the money." He said he hoped the city council would go on record as favoring the starting of the work.

Dr. Martin said that early in the year the board of health voted its commendation of the mayor's statement in his inaugural relative to the urgent need of a contagious hospital.

Mayor Meehan's Recommendation

The mayor has been commended on several occasions for his stand in this matter and what he had to say

In his inaugural relative to the matter was as follows:

"In order to safeguard the people from contagion, this city council should establish a contagious hospital, for the isolation and care of those afflicted with contagious diseases. This is a matter of vital importance to all people, but especially to those of limited means who cannot afford to nurse and do not tenant houses commodious enough for complete isolation."

"It would be lamentable, indeed, to have an epidemic run riot in our city, and yet we provide only the minimum of protection against such a contingency when we fail to establish a contagious hospital. The importance of such an institution appeared in the legislature of 1906, and section 1, chapter 365, Acts and Resolves of that year is as follows:

"Each city shall establish and constantly be provided within its limits, with one or more isolation hospitals for the reception of persons having smallpox or any other disease dangerous to public health. Such hospitals shall be subject to the orders and regulations of the board of health of the cities in which they are respectively situated. A city, which upon request of the state board of health, refuses or neglects to comply with the provisions of this section, shall forfeit not more than five hundred dollars for each refusal or neglect; provided, however, that if, in the opinion of the boards of health of two or more adjoining cities or towns, such hospitals can be advantageously established and maintained in common, the authorities of the said cities or towns may enter into such agreements as may be necessary for the establishment and maintenance of the same."

"Our city is not entirely free from the ravages of the 'white plague' and one of the very best ways to stamp it out would be to have each case reported so that health inspectors could visit every house in which a case is located and see that all necessary precautions are adopted to prevent the spread of the disease. It is true, also, much might be done to bring about the cure of incipient cases, to prevent the spread of other diseases and to detect and remedy unsanitary conditions."

"Our Greek physicians could render valuable service to the public by frequent lectures to the country people on the danger of this scourge."

In closing his remarks to the joint convention Dr. Martin said:

"I want to appeal to you, one and all—not for myself, for I have nothing to do with it but hard work—but for the poor people among whom these diseases appear with the greatest frequency. I hope that no children of ours or of mine will ever need the care which can be given in such a hospital, but such a place will be needed for those children who, in the very nature of things, are bound to contract such diseases."

The other members of the board of health, Dr. Huntress and Mr. Murphy, endorsed the remarks of their chairman and added to them. Dr. Huntress said he had had some experience in the erection of hospitals, at Tewksbury and Bridgewater, and he said it would cost $50,000 to erect a satisfactory contagious hospital in this city.

Mr. Jodoin wanted to know how much would be needed for a start.

Dr. Martin said every building put up should be a part of a comprehensive plan, which would later mean a group of buildings. He suggested $1000 as a starter.

Ald. Carmichael wanted to know if people didn't go in and out of houses where the contagious card is tacked up.

Dr. Martin said that that was so and in order to stop it a policeman would have to be stationed at every door. Dr. Martin said that Mr. Carmichael's question was a good argument in favor of the hospital.

The convention dissolved at 10.20.

Both Branches Adjourn

The board of aldermen adjourned shortly after the joint convention.

Dummer St. Survey

The common council was in session about 15 minutes, passing upon reports and minor routine. The matter of the footbridge for Lawrence street came up, and Mr. Whitte said that the superintendent of streets would set at work on it in a short time.

To act in conjunction with Aldermen Byam and Wainwright relative to a re-survey of the Dummer street extension project, President Jewett appointed Councilmen Davis, Elliott and Royal.

MONEY VOTED

BY COMMITTEE ON APPROPRIATIONS AFTER CONVENTION

After the board of aldermen and common council had adjourned the committee on appropriations got together. Drs. McCarty and Martin talked hesitatingly to the committee, reiterating and adding to what they had said at the joint convention.

In reply to Ald. Gray, Dr. Martin said that the first work would be to find out what other cities had done in erecting contagious hospitals. The first work would be to contract with architects and contractors of hospitals of a similar kind. Dr. Martin said he had an idea that $50,000 would have to be expended the first year. The heating plant, the fumigating plant, laundry, etc., would have to be put up first.

Dr. Martin said he should not be willing to have the inspector of lands and buildings determine what sort of a structure would be needed, inasmuch as special training for such work is needed.

Dr. McCarty said there would be time enough to talk about buildings after architects and special constructors had been consulted.

Chairman Gray believed the work would have to be done by the lands and building department.

Dr. Huntress suggested that a commission to erect the hospital be appointed as soon as possible. It is legally a matter of the appointment of a commission, he believed this commission should start its work at the very beginning, even to discussion of plans.

Ald. Dexter moved that the committee recommend the appointment of a commission of four men, and the mayor ex-officio, to act in the matter, the commission to be chosen by the city council.

The motion was adopted. Mr. Dexter moved the introduction of an order to appropriate $1000 to be spent by the new commission. This was passed. It was also voted that the mayor be asked to call special meetings of the city council for next Tuesday night to act on the matter.

$60,000 For Pump

Robert W. Van Tassel, president of the water board, appeared and spoke relative to the appropriation of $60,000 for a pump, foundations, etc., for the department. Bids and specifications were called for some months ago and were received.

The committee, after some discussion, voted to recommend an appropriation of $60,000 for the new pump asked for by the water board.
